for hundreds of years such as diminishing returns to scale and resource scarcity are no longer valid for a large and growing number of products and services. The book will challenge you to think differently not just about digital products but also about physical products. In the global digital world, products are of three kinds: physical, digital, and smart machines (products that are both physical and digital and connected to the internet), a distinction missed by most books on strategy and global business. The economics of each kind of products is distinct from that of the others, which has strategic implications for all kinds of businesses, implications such as how to compete and how to create and capture value. With several mini case studies and over 100 company examples, the book covers themes and cutting edge issues like the paradox of globalization, digital disruption, disruptive business models, exponential technologies, Internet of Things, competition in digital markets, winner take all market dynamics, Industry 4.0, how to innovate, strategizing for the New Normal, and value creation and value capture in both B2C and B2B contexts. The book derives its underpinnings from the practice of global and digital business, while theory remains in the background. Intended specifically for an executive professional audience, Global Meets Digital should also be of value to business students and professors learning to dip their toes into a digital world.

Streaming Media and Cultural Memory in a Postdigital Society Renira Rampazzo Gambarato, Johannes Heuman, 2024-12-31. This book offers a relevant contribution to the studies of streaming media and transmediality with an original approach of cultural sustainability, perfectly intertwined with cultural memory beyond borders. By critically reflecting on popular streaming media series, the book identifies their impact on the global circulation of cultural memory, their learning potential for educational purposes, and the societal challenges and opportunities that emerge from the ubiquitous streaming media penetration and potential for participatory practices. It also investigates how series available worldwide on commercial platforms such as Netflix and Max contribute to the global circulation of cultural memories, in addition to illuminating the ethical, unsustainable, and educational concerns involved in the fictionalization of the past. Drawing on the authors' expertise in media studies and history, this transdisciplinary book will interest scholars in the fields of media studies, cultural studies, memory studies, history, transmedia
