The Settlement of Disputes in Early Medieval Europe Wendy Davies,Paul Fouracre,1992-04-23 This is a collection of original essays on the settlement of disputes in the early middle ages a subject of central importance for social and political history Case material from the evidence of charters is used to reveal the realities of the settlement process in the behaviour and interactions of people instead of the prescriptive and idealised models of law codes and edicts The book is not therefore a technical study of charters evidence The geographical range across Europe is unusually wide which allows comparison across differing societies Frankish material is inevitably prominent but the contributors have sought to integrate Celtic Greek Italian and Spanish material into the mainstream of the subject Above all the book aims to demystify the study of early medieval law and to present a radical reappraisal of established assumptions about law and society Die

Religion, and Society in Medieval Europe, 400-1400 Lesley Smith, Conrad Leyser, 2016-04-22 Who can concentrate on thoughts of Scripture or philosophy and be able to endure babies crying Will he put up with the constant muddle and squalor which small children bring into the home The wealthy can do so but philosophers lead a very different life So according to Peter Abelard did his wife Heloise state in characteristically stark terms the antithetical demands of family and scholarship Heloise was not alone in making this assumption Sources from Jerome onward never cease to remind us that the life of the mind stands at odds with life in the family For all that we have moved in the past two generations beyond kings and battles fiefs and barons motherhood has remained a blind spot for medieval historians Whatever the reasons the result is that the historiography of the medieval period is largely motherless The aim of this book is to insist that this picture is intolerably one dimensional and to begin to change it The volume is focussed on the paradox of motherhood in the European Middle Ages to be a mother is at once to hold great power and by the same token to be acutely vulnerable The essays look to analyse the powers and the dangers of motherhood within the warp and weft of social history beginning with the premise that religious discourse or practice served as a medium in which mothers and others could assess their situation defend claims and make accusations Within this frame three main themes emerge survival agency and institutionalization The volume spans the length and breadth of the Middle Ages from late Roman North Africa through ninth century Byzantium to late medieval Somerset drawing in a range of types of historian including textual scholars literary critics students of religion and economic historians The unity of the volume arises from the very diversity of approaches within it all addressed to the central topic

From Roman Empire to Renaissance Europe Denys Hay, 2019-07-02 Originally published in 1953 From Roman Empire to Renaissance Europe looks at the broader picture of the Middle Ages drawn in terms of the men and women and the situations that they had to face The constant theme of change is revealed not by detailed narrative of elements but by commentary and examples that show how ideas and systems developed and how theses affected the patterns of everyday life The book looks at how the Roman Empire of the West gave way to a decentralized society vigorous brutal and inventive for which the only unifying factor was a universal acceptance of Latin Christianity In turn Christendom began to lose its coherence during the 13th and 14th centuries and by the fifteenth century Europe had emerged as a rival term a Europe in which the landed magnates had capitulated to the omnipotent and ubiquitous prince commerce as well as land now being a source of wealth This is not a static picture of the Middle Ages with fixed characteristics but of real men and women facing genuine situations

Politics and Religion in Ancient and Medieval Europe and China Frederick Hok-ming Cheung, Ming-chiu Lai, 2021-11-01 Now distributed by Brill for The Chinese University Press Seven diverse papers written by ancient and medieval historians are collected in this volume These papers were presented at the academic conference Politics and Religion in Ancient and Medieval Europe and Asia organized by the Department of History and New Asia College of The Chinese University of Hong Kong in March 1996 Although the papers vary widely in the region and time span of coverage from ancient Egypt the early Roman Empire Norman England to medieval China they have in common their concern about the relationship between politics and different religions Christianity Buddhism Taoism and others in ancient and medieval Europe and Asia and the respective intellectual and cultural interactions Professor Mu chou Poo in his paper explores the ancient Egyptian attitudes toward foreigners and foreign culture as an effort to understand Egyptian culture from a new perspective and as a preliminary attempt to probe into the issues concerning the nature of ancient ethnicity and cultural consciousness Professor Yen zen Tsai's paper looks into the way the early Roman Empire treated mystery cults under its rule Professor Ming chiu Lai discusses the impact of a Buddhist ritual on Chinese religious culture between the second and sixth centuries Professor Chi tim Lai in his paper argues that some Taoist teachings advocated a new world order but they were not the real force that provoked the rebellions during the Eastern Jin Dynasty Professor Puay peng Ho exhibits the political meanings of the imperial buildings in the Tang period and sheds light on the research about legitimacy in medieval China Professor Warren Hollister's paper which is also the keynote speech points out that the high culture of twelfth century western Europe was largely the product of monastery Finally Professor Frederick Hok ming Cheung examines the role of the Church in Anglo Norman politics The book will furnish a basis for further investigation on politics and religion in the ancient and medieval world and inspire scholarly inquiries into the comparative dimensions of these important historical phenomena This volume is distributed by Brill for The Chinese University Press

The King's Hall Within the University of Cambridge in the Later Middle Ages Alan B. Cobban, 2007-01-11 A detailed study of the King's Hall Cambridge from its foundation in the early fourteenth century until its dissolution in 1546 It is based largely on the 26 extant volumes of the King's Hall accounts which form one of the most remarkable sequences of medieval collegiate records in Europe The rich profusion of the material has made it possible to reconstruct the economic constitutional and business organisation of a medieval academic society thereby providing for the college that same kind of exhaustive treatment which has been lavished upon other categories of medieval institutions Dr Cobban discusses the vital contribution made by the King's Hall to the evolution of the University of Cambridge and shows how the interpretation of medieval Cambridge history has to be considerably modified He demonstrates the important formative influence of the King's Hall in shaping the course of English collegiate development and the ways in which this College was finely attuned to the new educational trends of the age The Mendicant Houses of Medieval London, 1221-1539 Jens Röhrkasten, 2004

The mendicant Orders had a profound impact on urban society life and culture from the thirteenth century onwards Being engaged in extensive and ambitious pastoral activities they depended on outside support for their material existence Their influence extended into ecclesiastical as well as secular affairs leading to the creation of a network of connections to different social groups and on occasion even an involvement in politics The role of the mendicants in a medieval capital has not yet been systematically studied A first attempt to study a city of this scale is here made for London
