Meeting Families Where They Are Beth Harry, Lydia Ocasio-Stoutenburg,2020 This book presents an in depth discussion of how human disability and parental advocacy have been constructed in American society including recommendations for a more authentically inclusive vision of parental advocacy The authors provide a cultural historical view of the conflation of racism classism and ableism that have left a deeply entrenched stigma one that positions children with disabilities and children of color as less valuable than others To redress these inequities the authors offer a working model of co constructed advocacy designed to benefit all families Because advocacy is not a one size fits all endeavor the authors propose meeting families where they are and learning their strengths and needs while preparing and repositioning families to empower themselves The authors intend to challenge us and they do They engage us in a secular liberation ethic That is why this book is important Rud Turnbull distinguished professor emeritus University of Kansas Of value to educators doctors parents and parent advocates this text purposefully centers the experiences of parents of color who have children with disabilities David J Connor professor emeritus City University of New York An enlightening and stimulating read for those committed to better understanding the complexity of the plight of parents of color as they attempt to advocate for the educational needs of their child with a disability Wanda J Blanchett dean Rutgers University Graduate School of Education

Disabled Child Amanda Apgar,2023-01-10 When children are born with disabilities or become disabled in childhood parents often experience bewilderment they find themselves unexpectedly in another world without a roadmap without community and without narratives to make sense of their experiences The Disabled Child Memoirs of a Normal Future tracks the narratives that have emerged from the community of parent memoirists who since the 1980s have written in resistance of their children's exclusion from culture Though the disabilities represented in the genre are diverse the memoirs share a number of remarkable similarities they are generally written by white heterosexual middle or upper middle class able-bodied parents and they depict narratives in which the disabled child overcomes barriers to a normal childhood and adulthood Apgar demonstrates that in the process of telling these stories which recuperate their children as productive members of society parental memoirists write their children into dominant cultural narratives about gender race and class By reinforcing and buying into these norms Apgar argues special needs parental memoirs reinforce ableism at the same time that they are writing against it Handbook of Research on Special Education Teacher Preparation Paul T. Sindelar, Erica D.

McCray, Mary T. Brownell, Benjamin Lignugaris/Kraft,2014-03-05 Compilations of research on teacher preparation often include no more than a cursory mention of the specific roles and needs of special education teachers Although the work that special education teachers perform does indeed differ from the work of classroom teachers teacher preparation in the two fields has much in common The purpose of this seven part handbook is to expand our knowledge of teacher education broadly by providing an in depth look at the most up to date research on special education teacher preparation Opening chapters ground the collection in political and economic context while subsequent sections delve deeply into issues related to the current state of our special education workforce and offer insights into how to best prepare and sustain that workforce Ultimately by illuminating the particularities of special education teacher preparation this landmark handbook addresses the state of current research in the field and sets an agenda for future scholarship Enduring Issues In Special Education

Barbara Bateman, John W. Lloyd, Melody Tankersley,2015-02-20 Enduring Issues in Special Education is aimed at any course in the undergraduate or graduate special education curriculum that is wholly or partly devoted to a critical examination of current issues in special education The book organizes 28 chapters into seven sections using familiar structuring principles what who where how when why and whither Each section begins with an introduction that provides historical legal and theoretical background information and organizing commentary for the chapters that follow The book's objective in addition to informing readers about the issues is to develop critical thinking skills in the context of special education Key features include the following Dialectic Format Each of the 28 chapters presents compelling reasons for addressing the issue at hand and specific ways to do so Because each issue is written from different perspectives and focuses on a variety of aspects readers are encouraged to weigh the arguments seek additional information and come up with synthesized positions of their own Organizing Framework The book's seven sections have been arranged according to a scheme that is the essence of most investigative reporting and provides a coherent easy to understand framework for readers Expertise All chapters are written by leading scholars who are highly regarded experts in their fields and conclude with suggested readings and discussion questions for additional study

Case Studies in Building Equity Through Family Advocacy in Special Education Lydia Ocasio-Stoutenburg, Beth Harry, 2021 You've read the history and the background now meet the families This companion book to Meeting Families Where They Are traces the advocacy journeys of 12 caregivers across a range of racial ethnic social disability economic and family identities The stories reflect the unique lives histories and needs of each family as well as the different approaches they employ to meet the needs of their children Caregivers indicate when they began to advocate describe how they continue their efforts across schools medical offices therapies communities and virtual spaces and discuss how they adapt to changing social and health climates and educational delivery modes They also share their collective wisdom to assist other parents who are new to the advocacy platform or are feeling discouraged with the process This is must reading for family members teachers administrators health care personnel and everyone invested in creating a culture of respect love and understanding Book Features Emphasizes how families have resisted the deficit based view of their children while still utilizing systems of support Identifies gaps and challenges across multiple systems as well as what's working Incorporates the fields of special education and disability studies in education Uses the framework of DisCrit to explore how disability and other social identities operate in tandem examining concepts such as power access privilege and barriers Positions caregivers as experts in their children's lives illustrating how they advocate for their children teens and young adults Takes a deep dive into the nuances of generational cultural organizational and geographical factors that impact how caregivers advocate Resists approaches that typically involve professionals dictating what families need centering instead on a collaborative model that includes families and professionals Contemplating Dis/Ability in Schools and Society David J. Connor, 2018-07-15 This book chronicles the professional life of a career long inclusive educator in New York City through eight different stages in special and general education Developing a new approach to research as part of qualitative methodology David J Connor merges the academic genre of autoethnography with memoir to create a narrative that engages the reader through stories of personal experiences within the professional world that politicized him as an educator After each chapter's narrative a systematic analytic commentary follows that focuses on teaching and learning in schools and universities the influence of educational laws specific models of disability and how influence educators and educational researchers and educational structures and systems including their impact on social political and cultural experiences of people with disabilities This autoethnographic memoir documents over three decades the relationship between special and general education the growth of the inclusion movement and the challenge of special education as a discrete academic field As part of a national group of critical special educators Connor describes the growth of counter theory through the inception and subsequent growth of DSE as a viable academic field and the importance of rethinking human differences in new ways
