Ordeal by Providence James Selwood,2001-12-01 Immigrant family from Germany returns to Europe during the Weimar Republic and experiences the Nazi era World War II and its aftermath Superstition and Force Henry Charles Lea,1878 The Law Journal ,1882 The Marrano Factory António José Saraiva,2001-10-01 The Marrano Factory argues that the Portuguese Inquisition's stated intention of extirpating heresies and purifying Portuguese Catholicism was a monumental hoax the true purpose of the Holy Office was the fabrication rather than the destruction of Judaizers The caste or race of the New Christians was in reality synonymous with the Portuguese mercantile middle class which conservative Portuguese society would not tolerate Most or nearly all of the New Christian Inquisitorial victims some 40 000 between 1540 and 1765 were unremarkable Catholics who often had minimal Jewish ancestry The Portuguese Inquisitorial procedure was not designed to distinguish between guilt and innocence but considered any defendant once categorized a New Christian a Judaizer First published in Portuguese in 1969 this is the only work by António José Saraiva available in English and the only single volume history devoted primarily to the working of the Portuguese Inquisition a most lucid and compact survey It presents Saraiva's 1975 revised history and analysis of the Portuguese Inquisition a 1971 interview with Professor Israel Salvator R. Vah Saraiva's dialogues and R. Vah's reply of the same year both scholars letters to the Di. rio de Lisboa Footnotes and introductions have been expanded A brief survey of the Portuguese Inquisition in Goa India as well as a list of Portuguese kings and Inquisitors general and an up to date bibliography have been added The Practical Philosophy Robert Lewis Dabney,1897 Journal of Legal Studies ,1990 The Chronicles of England, France, Spain Etc. Etc Jean Froissart,1891 Descriptive Catalogue of the Gluck Collection of Manuscripts and Autographs in the Buffalo Public Library Buffalo Public Library,1899 Crime and Media Chris Greer,2019-07-08 This engaging and timely collection gathers together for the first time key and classic readings in the ever expanding area of crime and media Comprizing a carefully distilled selection of the most important contributions to the field Crime and Media A Reader tackles a wide range of issues including understanding media researching media crime newsworthiness and news crime entertainment and creativity effects influence and moral panic and cybercrime surveillance and risk Specially devised introductory and linking sections contextualize each reading and evaluate its contribution to the field both individually and in relation to competing approaches and debates This book provides a single source around which criminology media and cultural studies modules can be structured an invaluable revision and consultation guide for students and an extremely useful resource for scholars writing and researching across a wide range of relevant fields Accessible yet challenging and packed with additional pedagogical devices Crime and Media A Reader will be an invaluable resource for students and academics studying crime media culture surveillance and control Virgin or Vamp Helen Benedict,1993-09-09 The national press has recently lavished coverage on several major sex related scandals the Clarence Thomas Anita Hill hearings the William Kennedy Smith rape trial and the Mike Tyson case. With each event came lurid stories pitting either a loose or a virginal woman against an unwilling or monstrous man. Such extreme coverage argues Helen Benedict perpetuates myths that are harmful to the victims of these crimes and sometimes to the accused. With the rise in reported rapes, more such myth-mongering stories are bound to be seen in the future. In Virgin or Vamp, Benedict addresses the press's tendency to misrepresent rape, denigrate victims, and invade the privacy of its subjects while also pointing out the press's critical role in informing and educating the public. In this timely book, Benedict draws on her experience as a reporter and professor of journalism to examine the print press's treatment of four prominent sex crimes from the past decade: the Rideout marital rape trial in Oregon, the Big Dan's pool table gang rape in New Bedford, Massachusetts, the Preppy Murder in New York, and the Central Park jogger rape. By analyzing the language of the original news stories and interviewing the original reporters, Benedict identifies the press's tendency to label victims as either virgins or vamps, a practice she condemns as misleading and harmful. For example, she finds that the press worked so hard at portraying Jennifer Levin, the victim of the Preppy Murder, as a man chasing a vamp that it made her seem as responsible for her death as was her killer, Robert Chambers. Likewise, Benedict shows how the press depicted Greta Rideout as a hysterical wife who accused her husband of rape for revenge rather than as a victim of domestic battery who eventually escaped the truth of the case. Benedict also looks at other factors that perpetuate the misunderstanding of rape. For instance, she shows how the New York press presented the Central Park jogger rape case as motivated by racism because of its unwillingness to consider rape an issue of gender. She also addresses our inherent language bias: more positive words exist to describe men than women; the press's tendency to use sexually suggestive language to describe crime victims; and its preference for crimes against whites. In her conclusion, Benedict analyzes the William Kennedy Smith rape case and argues that the debate over naming victims is misconceived in light of the press's current lack of understanding about rape. More than a critique about the way the print press covers sex crimes, Virgin or Vamp also reveals the roots of rape coverage in the days of lynching and shows how deep traditionalist views of women still run. Benedict concludes with both practical and radical suggestions of how reporters can challenge such views by covering these increasingly common crimes without further harming the victims, the defendants, or public understanding. Hislop's

Book of Scottish anecdote Alexander Hislop (publisher), 1875 The Byzantine Ascetic and Spiritual Fathers Georges Florovsky, 1987 The Indian Magazine, 1890 Old Wine and New: Occasional Discourses Joseph Cross, 2019-12-20. From Eternity to Time Aino Mäkilä, 2007 This study examines different conceptions of time in Daniel Defoe s 1660-1731 novels The temporal aspects of the novels are surveyed taking into account the historical situation of the novel as a genre and contemporary conceptions of time The modernisation process of the Western world serves as a wider context of the study as present research indicates that Defoe s novels exemplify a multilayered shift from pre modern Western conceptions of time to those of the modern age The author also explores gendered time and economic and cultural values of time in Defoe s novels The book contributes a fresh analysis of Defoe s novels and demonstrates the crucial relation between historical cultural conceptions of time and the historically changing genre of the novel
