short poems that teach about the elements of the periodic table Indulge your love of the periodic table with this collection of poems and fun facts about the chemical elements that make up our world From arsenic to zirconium this book describes the characteristics history and quirks of each element The poems are a launching point for a guided tour of the elements filled with fascinating scientific trivia For instance Antimony used to treat constipation in the Middle Ages may have killed Mozart There s arsenic in your prawns But don t worry it won t harm you Erbium is used to dope optical fiber amplifiers that make your YouTube videos download faster Iridium was key to the meteor theory of why dinosaurs went extinct You ll find potassium in both bananas and gunpowder Sulfur plays a role in whether your hair is curly or straight Expand your library of scientific literature with this playful and poetic romp through the periodic table

Knowledge-based Expert Systems in Chemistry Philip Judson, 2019-02-07 There have been significant developments in the use of knowledge based expert systems in chemistry since the first edition of this book was published in 2009 This new edition has been thoroughly revised and updated to reflect the advances The underlying theme of the book is still the need for computer systems that work with uncertain or qualitative data to support decision making based on reasoned judgements With the continuing evolution of regulations for the assessment of chemical hazards and changes in thinking about how scientific decisions should be made that need is ever greater Knowledge based expert systems are well established in chemistry especially in relation to toxicology and they are used routinely to support regulatory submissions The effectiveness and continued acceptance of computer prediction depends on our ability to assess the trustworthiness of predictions and the validity of the models on which they are based Written by a pioneer in the field this book provides an essential reference for anyone interested in the uses of artificial intelligence for decision making in chemistry
