

An aerial photograph of a city skyline. A tall, modern skyscraper with a distinctive tiered top and a spire is the central focus. Below it, a dense cluster of lower-rise buildings, including a prominent red-brick structure, fills the foreground. The city extends into the distance under a blue sky with light clouds.

Mega Urban Regions In Pacific Asia Mega Urban Regions In Pacific Asia:

Mega-urban Regions in Pacific Asia Gavin W. Jones, 2008 Southeast Asia contains four urban conglomerates of the sort that this study characterizes as Mega Urban Regions Jakarta Manila Bangkok and Ho Chi Minh These locations are examined in this book along with Taipei and Shanghai Because the administrative boundaries of the cities at the core of these zones do not include the entire urban area the significance of the broader urban community has largely escaped scholarly attention The authors base their analysis on actual agglomeration size rather than administrative boundaries and draw on unpublished census data to study the dynamics of these massive urban zones considering area and population size as well as social and demographic patterns of change in core inner and outer zones They conclude that these mega urban regions continue to increase their share of national populations and zones immediately beyond the official metropolitan boundaries are where the most dramatic changes are occurring

Mega Urban Regions of Southeast Asia Ira M. Robinson, 2011-11-01 A distinguishing feature of recent urbanization in the ASEAN countries of Thailand Malaysia the Philippines Singapore and Indonesia is the outward extension of their mega cities Bangkok Jakarta Manila Singapore and Kuala Lumpur beyond the metropolitan borders resulting in the establishment of new towns industrial estates and housing projects in previously rural areas This process has both positive and negative effects On one side household incomes and employment opportunities are increasing but on the other the growth often causes serious problems in terms of environmental deterioration conflicting land uses and inadequate housing and service provisions

Mega Urban Regions of Southeast Asia is the first comprehensive work on the subject of ASEAN mega urban regions The contributors review T G McGee's original idea of desakota zones and offer arguments both for and against this concept making a significant contribution to our understanding of the true face of ASEAN cities The book brings together authors from around the world and will be of interest to a wide audience including demographers urban planners geographers sociologists economists civil servants and development consultants

The Asian Megacity Region Debnath Mookherjee, 2020-04-11 This book argues that close and disciplined scrutiny of the Asian megacity regions is of critical importance to understanding Asian urbanization However any approach to studying these regions must adopt a multi dimensional and trans urban perspective otherwise we Without such an approach we cannot truly make meaningful decisions about growth management and sustainable development for such regions Amidst the sweeping demographic and structural shifts produced by global urbanization Asian urbanization has a fascinating and prominent role Asian urbanization is heterogeneous and more accurately constitutes phenomena than a phenomenon However despite this diversity there are certain common features that we can identify One of them is the Asian megacity region the administrative and or delineated territory of mixed urban rural landscape surrounding a giant metropolis The purpose of this book is to Understand the main features of 21st century urbanization Note the limitations of current approaches e.g. disparate scales city centric views inadequate data sets Articulate a pragmatically framed three pronged approach scale based trans urban multi dimensional Demonstrate the application of such an approach with a case study of one of the most important megacity regions in South Asia the Delhi National Capital Region underscoring the methodological requirements of such an approach Discuss the next steps for the field as a whole questions to be raised and directions to be explored for further study This timely conceptual and empirical book will appeal to students of urbanization architects involved in urban policy and planning and researchers alike Urban Development Challenges, Risks and Resilience in Asian Mega Cities R.B.

Singh,2014-10-16 In this book an interdisciplinary research group of faculty members researchers professionals and planners contributed to an understanding of the dynamics and dimensions of emerging challenges and risks in megacities in the rapidly changing urban environments in Asia and examined emerging resilience themes from the point of view of sustainability and public policy The world s urban population in 2009 was approximately 3 4 billion and Asia s urban population was about 1 72 billion Between 2010 and 2020 411 million people will be added to Asian cities 60 % of the growth in the world s urban population By 2020 of the world s urban population of 4 2 billion approximately 2 2 billion will be in Asia China and India will contribute 31 3 % of the total world urban population by 2025 Developing Asia s projected global share of CO2 emissions for energy consumption will increase from 30 % in 2006 to 43 % by 2030 City regions serve as magnets for people enterprise and culture but with urbanisation the worst form of visible poverty becomes prominent The Asian region with a slum population of an estimated 505 5 million people remains host to over half of the world s slum population The book provides information on a comprehensive range of environmental threats faced by the inhabitants of megacities It also offers a wide and multidisciplinary group of case studies from rapidly growing megacities with populations of more than 5 million from developed and developing countries of Asia Routledge Handbook of Asian Cities Richard Hu,2023-05-31 This handbook provides the most comprehensive examination of Asian cities developed and developing large and small and their urban development Investigating the urban challenges and opportunities of cities from every nation in Asia the handbook engages not only the global cities like Shanghai Tokyo Singapore Seoul and Mumbai but also less studied cities like Dili Mal Bandar Seri Begawan Kabul and Pyongyang The handbook discusses Asian cities in alignment to the United Nations New Urban Agenda and Sustainable Development Goals in order to contribute to global policy debates In doing so it critically reflects on the development trajectories of Asian cities and imagines an urban future in Asia and the world in the post sustainable post global and post pandemic era Presenting 43 chapters of original insightful research this book will be of interest to scholars practitioners students and general readers in the fields of urban development urban policy and planning urban studies and Asian studies Planning Asian Cities Stephen Hamnett,Dean Forbes,2012-03-29 Stephen Hamnett and Dean Forbes have brought together some of the region s most distinguished urbanists to explore the planning history and recent development of Pacific Asia s major cities They show how globalization and the competition to achieve global city status has had a profound effect on all these cities But how resilient are these cities to the risks that they face How can they manage continuing pressures for development and growth while reducing their vulnerability to a range of potential crises And given the tradition of top down centralized state directed planning which drove the economic growth of many of these cities in the last century what prospects are there of them becoming more inclusive and sensitive to the diverse needs of their populations and to the importance of culture heritage and local places in creating liveable cities Global

City-Regions Allen J. Scott, 2001-01-25 There are now more than three hundred city regions around the world with populations greater than one million These city regions are expanding vigorously and they present many new and deep challenges to researchers and policy makers in both the more developed and less developed parts of the world The processes of global economic integration and accelerated urban growth make traditional planning and policy strategies in these regions increasingly inadequate while more effective approaches remain largely in various stages of hypothesis and experimentation Global City Regions represents a multifaceted effort to deal with the many different issues raised by these developments It seeks at once to define the question of global city regions and to describe the internal and external dynamics that shape them it proposes a theorization of global city regions based on their economic and political responses to intensifying levels of globalization and it offers a number of policy insights into the severe social problems that confront global city regions as they come face to face with an economically and politically neoliberal world At a moment when globalization is increasingly subject to critical scrutiny in many different quarters this book provides a timely overview of its effects on urban and regional development one of its most important but perhaps least understood corollaries The book also offers a series of nuanced visions of alternative possible futures New Economic Spaces in Asian Cities Peter W. Daniels, K.C. Ho, Thomas A.

Hutton, 2012-04-27 The East and Southeast Asia region constitutes the world's most compelling theatre of accelerated globalization and industrial restructuring Following a spectacular realization of the industrialization paradigm and a period of services led growth the early twenty first century economic landscape among leading Asian states now comprises a burgeoning New Economy spectrum of the most advanced industrial trajectories including finance the knowledge economy and the new cultural economy In an agenda setting volume New Economic Spaces in Asian Cities draws on stimulating research conducted by a new generation of urban scholars to generate critical analysis and theoretical insights on the New Economy phenomenon within Asia New industry formation and the transformation of older economic practices constitute instruments of development as well as signifiers of larger processes of change expressed in the reproduction of space in the city Asia's major cities become the key staging areas for the New Economy driven by the growing wealth of an urban middle and professional class higher education institutions city based inter regional movements and urban mega projects New Economic Spaces in Asian Cities animates this New Economy discourse by means of vibrant storylines of instructive cities and sites including cases studies situated in cities such as Tokyo Seoul Shanghai Beijing Shenzhen and Singapore Theoretical and normative issues associated with the emergence of the new cultural economy are the subject of the book's context setting chapters and each case study presents an evocative narrative of development interdependencies and exemplary outcomes on the ground New Economic Spaces in Asian Cities offers a vivid contribution to our understanding of the ongoing transformation of Asia's urban system including the critical intersections of global and local regional dynamics in processes of new industry formation and the relayering of space in the Asian metropolis The synthesis of empirical profiles normative insights and theoretical reference points enhances the book's interest for scholars and students in fields of Asian studies urban and cultural studies and urban and economic geography as well as for policy specialists and urban community planners

Facets of Globalization Shahid Yusuf, Simon J. Evenett, Weiping Wu, 2001-01-01 Since 1985 national economies have become increasingly integrated into a global network At the same time both population and production in developing countries are becoming concentrated in urban regions This in turn has generated demands for more local autonomy shifting more decision making to sub national levels Globalization is expected to continue leading to greater openness and international mobility of capital and people There are few reasons to believe that these trends will abate if anything they are likely to intensify the focus on cities and sharpen competition among these for international and local resources This volume underscores the transformative role of globalization and urbanization and shows the interplay between the two forces

Urban Energy Transition Peter Droege, 2011-09-06 This compendium of 29 chapters from 18 countries contains both fundamental and advanced insight into the inevitable shift from cities dominated by the fossil fuel systems of the industrial age to a renewable energy based urban development framework The cross disciplinary handbook covers a range of diverse yet relevant topics including carbon emissions policy and practice the role of embodied energy urban thermal performance planning building efficiency services energy poverty alleviation efforts renewable community support networks aspects of household level bio fuel markets urban renewable energy legislation programs and incentives innovations in individual transport systems global urban mobility trends implications of intelligent energy networks and distributed energy supply and storage and the case for new regional monetary systems and lifestyles Presented are practical and principled aspects of technology economics design culture and society presenting perspectives that are both local and international in scope and relevance

City-Regions in Prospect? Kevin Edson Jones, Alex Lord, Rob Shields, 2015-11-06 Essays exploring the prospects of the city region

Globalization and Urban Development Harry W. Richardson, Chang-Hee C. Bae, 2006-03-30 Most research on globalization has focused on macroeconomic and economy wide consequences This book explores an under researched area the impacts of globalization on cities and national urban hierarchies especially but not solely in developing countries Most of the globalization urban research has concentrated on the global cities e g New York London Paris Tokyo that influence what happens in the rest of the world In contrast this research looks at the cities at the receiving end of the forces of globalization The general finding is that large cities on balance benefit from globalization although in some cases at the expense of widening spatial inequities

Asia's Clean Revolution David Angel, Michal Rock, 2017-09-20 The world s environmental future will be determined in significant part by what happens in the rapidly industrialising and urban economies of Asia The sheer scale of urban population and industrial growth in Asia from Indonesia to China and the energy and materials intensive character of the development process constitutes a dark shadow over the region s and indeed the world s environment And yet this challenge is also an opportunity Precisely because so much of the urban industrial investment within developing Asia has yet to take place the opportunity exists to shape a different development future one that is far less energy materials and waste intensive Asia s Clean Revolution examines the prospects for and pathways to such a new trajectory The book lays out a path breaking vision of how developing economies might go beyond environmental regulation and put in place an array of policies and institutions that could integrate environmental industrial and technological goals These findings provide important input for negotiators considering climate change on a global scale The book approaches the challenge of growth and environment in Asia in a novel way by identifying six major transformational dynamics under way in the world today and assessing whether these can be harnessed to the goal of improved environmental performance of industry With a set of specially commissioned chapters from the leading authorities in North America and Asia this ground breaking book is the first to present concrete policy solutions to the looming crisis driven by large scale urban industrial growth in developing Asia

Regional Dynamics in a Decentralized Indonesia Hal Hill, 2014-05-20 Indonesia is the world s largest archipelagic state In 2001 it embarked on a big bang decentralization involving a major transfer of administrative political and financial authority to its districts now numbering more than 500 Together with the rapid transition from authoritarian to democratic rule in the late 1990s this initiative has transformed the country s political social and business life While national government is the major area of contestation power has shifted irreversibly away from the centre How this significantly increased regional autonomy works will have a crucial bearing on the future of the Indonesian nation state This volume features contributions by over 40 writers with deep expertise on Indonesia The book provides a timely comprehensive and analytical assessment of the country s regional development dynamics in the post decentralization environment It explores historical political and development patterns at the regional level the relationship between decentralization and governance local level perspectives migration cities and connectivity and the challenges confronting the peripheral regions of Aceh and Papua
