Weird Ideas That Work Robert I. Sutton, 2002-03-02 A breakthrough in management thinking weird ideas can help every organization achieve a balance between sustaining performance and fostering new ideas To succeed you need to be both conventional and counterintuitive Creativity new ideas innovation in any age they are keys to success Yet as Stanford professor Robert Sutton explains the standard rules of business behavior and management are precisely the opposite of what it takes to build an innovative company We are told to hire people who will fit in to train them extensively and to work to instill a corporate culture in every employee In fact in order to foster creativity we should hire misfits goad them to fight and pay them to defy convention and undermine the prevailing culture Weird Ideas That Work codifies these and other proven counterintuitive ideas to help you turn your workplace from staid and safe to wild and woolly and creative In Weird Ideas That Work Sutton draws on extensive research in behavioral psychology to explain how innovation can be fostered in hiring managing and motivating people building teams making decisions and interacting with outsiders Business practices like hire people who make you uncomfortable and reward success and failure but punish inaction strike many managers as strange or even downright wrong Yet Weird Ideas That Work shows how some of the best teams and companies use these and other counterintuitive practices to crank out new ideas and it demonstrates that every company can reap sales and profits from such creativity Weird Ideas That Work is filled with examples drawn from hi and low tech industries manufacturing and services information and products More than just a set of bizarre suggestions it represents a breakthrough in management thinking Sutton shows that the practices we need to sustain performance are in constant tension with those that foster new ideas The trick is to choose the right balance between conventional and weird and now thanks to Robert Sutton s work we have the tools we need to do so

Toward Assessing Business Ethics Education Diane L. Swanson, Dann G. Fisher, 2010-11-01 Toward Assessing Business Ethics Education edited by Diane L Swanson and Dann G Fisher of Kansas State University is a sequel to their book Advancing Business Ethics Education in the Ethics in Practice IAP book series The focus on assessment in this second book is a timely response to the urgent search among business schools for ways to teach and assess ethics at a time when the public s faith in corporations and business schools has been undermined greatly by the failure of both to respond to widespread corruption and scandals in the business sector Although no one expects business education alone to resolve these problems the distinguished scholars represented in this book advocate that business schools should at least do their part by exposing their students to decision models that incorporate ethical dimensions on behalf of corporate stakeholders and society at large As the book s title conveys it is then important to assess key learning objectives to insure that business students graduate knowing ethics fundamentals and armed with the ability to recognize ethical dilemmas and possible solutions during the course of their careers This book will speak to all who are interested in accountability for business ethics education especially business school deans university administrators faculty members students and prospective employers This audience will find that the enterprise of assessing business ethics education is advanced in three ways First the book functions as a venue for distinguished scholars to share the innovative ways that they are assessing ethics coverage in courses and degree programs Second these authors identify what needs to be assessed and the means for doing so Third the book serves not only as a guide to assessment but also as a platform for expanding and improving ethics coverage in business schools Moreover an important take away for readers is the provision of a simple formula first advocated by Diane L Swanson and William C Frederick University of Pittsburgh in 2005 for delivering ethics education that minimizes assessment errors By following this formula business schools can provide assurances that ethics will not be assessed as being sufficient when it is woefully inadequate or even missing in the curriculum and that it cannot be distorted diluted or trivialized by uninformed coverage and still pass inspection Avoiding these assessment errors is critical in an educational environment in which weak accrediting standards for ethics go hand in hand with spotty uniformed coverage that would not be tolerated for other business disciplines
