Social TV Cory Barker,2022-06-27 Winner of the 2023 SCMS Media Industries Scholarly Interest Group Outstanding Book Award sponsored by the Center for Entertainment Media Industries On March 15 2011 Donald Trump changed television forever The Comedy Central Roast of Trump was the first major live broadcast to place a hashtag in the corner of the screen to encourage real time reactions on Twitter generating more than 25 000 tweets and making the broadcast the most watched Roast in Comedy Central history The trumproast initiative personified the media and tech industries utopian vision for a multi screen and communal live TV experience In Social TV Multi Screen Content and Ephemeral Culture author Cory Barker reveals how the US television industry promised but failed to deliver a social media revolution in the 2010s to combat the imminent threat of on demand streaming video Barker examines the rise and fall of Social TV across press coverage corporate documents and an array of digital ephemera He demonstrates that despite the talk of disruption the movement merely aimed to exploit social media to reinforce the value of live TV in the modern attention economy Case studies from broadcast networks to tech start ups uncover a persistent focus on community that aimed to monetize consumer behavior in a transitional industry period To trace these unfulfilled promises and flopped ideas Barker draws upon a unique mix of personal Social TV experiences and curated archives of material that were intentionally marginalized amid pivots to the next big thing Yet in placing this now forgotten material in recent historical context Social TV shows how the era altered how the industry pursues audiences Multi screen campaigns have shifted away from a focus on live TV and toward all day content streams The legacy of Social TV then is the further embedding of media and promotional material onto every screen and into every moment of life

Probing auditory scene analysis Elyse S Sussman, Susan Denham, Susann Deike, 2015-02-11 In natural environments the auditory system is typically confronted with a mixture of sounds originating from different sound sources As sounds spread over time the auditory system has to continuously decompose competing sounds into distinct meaningful auditory objects or auditory streams referring to certain sound sources This decomposition work which was termed by Albert Bregman as Auditory scene analysis ASA involves two kinds of grouping to be done Grouping based on simultaneous cues such as harmonicity and on sequential cues such as similarity in acoustic features over time Understanding how the brain solves these tasks is a fundamental challenge facing auditory scientist In recent years the topic of ASA was broadly investigated in different fields of auditory research including a wide range of methods studies in different species and modeling Despite the advance in understanding ASA it still proves to be a major challenge for auditory research This includes verifying whether experimental findings are transferable to more realistic auditory scenes A central approach in understanding ASA is the use of certain stimulus parameters that produce an ambiguous percept The advantage of such an approach is that different perceptual organizations can be studied without varying physical stimulus parameters Additionally the perception of ambiguous stimuli can be volitionally controlled by intention or task By using this one can mirror real hearing situations where listeners intent to identify and to localize auditory sources Recently it was also found that in classical auditory streaming sequences perceptual ambiguity was not restricted to but was observed over a broad range of stimulus parameters The proposed Research Topic pursues to bring together scientist in the different fields of auditory research whose work addresses the issue of perceptual ambiguity Researchers were welcome to contribute experimental reports computational modeling and reviews that consider auditory ambiguity in its modality specific characteristics as well as in comparison to visual ambiguous figures The overall goal of contributions was to consider the experimental findings from the perspective of real auditory scenes In a broader sense the Research Topic was open for contributions which are related to the issue of active listening in complex scenes
