Teaching Reading Comprehension to English Learners in Secondary Schools: A Research-Based Approach Cekiso, Madoda, Olifant, Florence, Mokhtari, Kouider, 2025-04-23 Teaching reading comprehension to English learners ELs in secondary schools presents unique challenges as these students must navigate the complexities of academic texts and the intricacies of language acquisition. Effective instruction requires a research based approach that considers the diverse linguistic cultural and cognitive backgrounds of these learners. Recent studies highlight the importance of integrating strategies that build both language proficiency and content knowledge essential for helping ELs develop the skills needed to comprehend complex materials. Fostering metacognitive awareness through strategies like summarizing, questioning and making connections can empower students to become active and strategic readers. This approach recognizes the need for a supportive inclusive classroom environment that encourages language development while promoting academic achievement in content areas. Further research may help educators provide English learners with the tools to thrive as capable readers in secondary school.

Teaching Reading Comprehension to English Learners in Secondary School: A Research Based Approach explores various aspects of teaching reading comprehension to English Second Language (ESL) learners in secondary schools. It examines current challenges and evidence based strategies in reading comprehension. This book covers topics such as language learning, reading strategies and teacher training and is a useful resource for academicians, researchers and scientists.

Fluency and Reading Comprehension in Typical Readers and Dyslexic Readers Simone A. Capellini, Giseli D. Germano, 2018-02-22. Reading involves decoding and comprehension components and to become efficient it requires a large number of cognitive and linguistic processes. Among those, the phonological awareness, the alphabetic principle, the decoding, the fluency, the lexical development and the text comprehension development. The reading comprehension is strongly related with the development of vocabulary, oral language, linguistic skills, memory skills and ability to make inferences and the world experiences of each individual. These processes become important only when the professional needs to deal with students presenting difficulties in learning how to read. The difficulty using the knowledge of conversion rules between grapheme and phoneme to the word reading construction characterizes the dyslexia, which is a specific learning disorder with a neurological source. These difficulties presented by students with dyslexia interfere in their learning process, impairing the learning development. Knowing and following the reading development and its processes as well as obtaining the punctuation of fluency abilities and students comprehension allow us to understand what happens when the student presents difficulties to read. This could help in the identification of learning disabilities and in the development of intervention programs.
