Violence and the Writing of History in the Medieval Francophone World Noah D. Guynn, Zrinka Stahuljak, 2013 An examination of medieval historical writings through the prism of violence The concept of medieval historiography as usable past is here challenged and reassessed The contributors shared claim is that the value of medieval historiographical texts lies not only in the factual information the texts contain but also in the methods and styles they use to represent and interpret the past and make it ideologically productive Violence is used as the key term that best demonstrates the making of historical meaning in the Middle Ages through the transformation of acts of physical aggression and destruction into a memorable and usable past The twelve chapters assembled here explore a wide range of texts emanating from throughout the francophone world They cover a range of genres chansons de geste histories chronicles travel writing and lyric poetry and range from the late eleventh to the fifteenth century Through examination of topics as varied as rhetoric imagery humor gender sexuality trauma subversion and community formation each chapter strives to demonstrate how knowledge of the medieval past can be enhanced by approaching medieval modes of historical representation and consciousness on their own terms and by acknowledging and resisting the desire to subject them to modern conceptions of historical intelligibility Noah D Guynn is Associate Professor of French at the University of California Davis Zrinka Stahuljak is Associate Professor of French and Comparative Literature at the University of California Los Angeles Contributors Noah D Guynn Zrinka Stahuljak James Andrew Cowell Jeff Rider Leah Shopkow Matthew Fisher Karen Sullivan David Rollo Deborah McGrady Rosalind Brown Grant Simon Gaunt

Still Reading Romance Josefine Smith, Kathleen W. Taylor Kollman, 2025-04-01 In a world that commodifies feminism is adapting romance novels for small and big screen projects and the Romance Writers Association is evolving to a more inclusive representative group it is imperative for researchers to reevaluate the cultural assumptions and gender norming work happening in the romance genre It is time to question the cultural capital of traditional archetypes explore the experience of romance readers and question how romance and cultural studies researchers create quantitative qualitative and mixed methods research This work centers around a data set collected with a revised version of Janice Radway's Reading the Romance survey that will be shared with all the authors of this anthology By having access to this pool authors will have the opportunity to explore different elements of reader experience and cultural norms in romance fiction and potentially reflect on changes since Janice Radway's seminal work The norms and negotiations readers experience while consuming romance is especially interesting as romancelandia becomes a more mainstream part of popular culture with the popularity of Bridgerton and romance series like Ice Planet Barbarians exploding on BookTok No other book in romance or popular culture studies identifies a data set as the connecting element and to do so creates an exciting opportunity to create a more inclusive study of popular romance offer truly interdisciplinary research on the question of how readers read romance and generate diverse areas of future scholarship This edited volume explores multiple issues in romance fiction based on survey data from real romance readers An updated version of Janice Radway's influential survey looking at romance readers in the early 1980s this time scholars explore romance readers' habits and attitudes in the twenty-first century Each contributor in this volume uses the same survey data to make unique statements about gender intersectionality popular fiction and popular culture By using a common data set but approaching it from different perspectives this unique volume is able to apply multiple methodologies to the same subject

The Bloomsbury Handbook of Modern Chinese Literature in Translation Cosima Bruno, Lucas Klein, Chris Song, 2023-10-19 Offering the first systematic overview of modern and contemporary Chinese literature from a translation studies perspective this handbook provides students researchers and teachers with a context in which to read and appreciate the effects of linguistic and cultural transfer in Chinese literary works Translation matters It always has of course but more so when we want to reap the benefits of intercultural communication In many universities Chinese literature in English translation is taught as if it had been written in English As a result students submit what they read to their own cultural expectations they do not read in translation and do not attend to the protocols of knowing engagements and contestations that bind literature and society to each other The Bloomsbury Handbook of Modern Chinese Literature in Translation squarely addresses this pedagogical lack Organised in a tripartite structure around considerations of textual social and large scale spatial and historical circumstances its thirty-plus essays each deal with a theme of translation studies as emerged from the translation of one or more Chinese literary works In doing so it offers new tools for reading and appreciating modern and contemporary Chinese literature in the global context of its translation offering in depth studies about eminent Chinese authors and their literary masterpieces in translation The first of its kind this book is essential reading for anyone studying or researching Chinese literature in translation

Uhlenwinkel,2025-03-03 At universities professors are increasingly being dismissed or demoted from high positions for allegedly disruptive behaviors But when is a professor disruptive In the media you read about unpopular statements false attitudes bullying or abuse of power But that is only part of the story This book looks at the structures behind the cases and shows that the dismissals repeatedly affect certain groups of people Instead of performance orientation a right to certification is gaining ground Instead of academic freedom there is increasing pressure to conduct research only in line with certain political ideologies Based on their empirical surveys Heike Egner and Anke Uhlenwinkel present worrying findings and remind us of the once seemingly unshakeable principles of free research and free teaching at our universities Among other things the authors have examined the questions of which groups of people were primarily affected by the dismissals what accusations were made against them what the respective course of proceedings was and what role the media played The findings unearthed in the process are disturbing for the facts suggest that not only has there been a sharp increase in the number of professors who have been prematurely removed from university service against their will but that qualitatively questionable developments have also been observed Those affected seem to belong particularly often to certain sociological groups whose members are presumed to have been able to pursue a career in academia only through extraordinary personal effort and talent to feel committed to the ethos of achievement and to be particularly attached to the traditional Humboldtian understanding of academia Resources in Education ,1998 American Universities and Colleges James J.

Murray,2021-06-21 No detailed description available for American Universities and Colleges The Problem of Pleasure Carol Jones,Elaine Barclay,Rob Mawby,2013-03-01 The tourism and leisure industries are big business Opportunities for leisure and tourism have escalated as disposable income technology travel and education have become increasingly available in recent times However this trend has been juxtaposed with an increase in crime particularly since the early the 1950s Acquisitive crimes have been facilitated with the development of more portable and valuable commodities some activities such as drink driving and disorder have now been socially defined as crimes and are more readily identified through new technology such as the increasing use of CCTV The Problem of Pleasure covers them all The purpose of this book is to inform and enlighten a range of readers whose interests may be academic or commercial on possible crime events and modus operandi of criminals The book has a global perspective bringing together leading academics from the UK the US South Africa Australia and New Zealand who examine several aspects of leisure that are vulnerable to crime from illegal hunting to street racing as well as the impact of crime upon tourists and the tourism industry This book will be a key text for students of tourism and leisure as well as criminology and sociology people working in the tourism and recreation industry policy makers and the police Sociology and Popular Television Raisa-Gabriela Zamfirescu,2025-03-21 This book examines representations of gender age and identity across the Hallmark film and television output in relation to specific periods of time that pertain to changes within the specific entertainment sector Using a comprehensive collection of 628 original Hallmark television films released between January 2015 and December 2023 the book applies content analysis to a variety of quantitative qualitative and mixed data including behind the scenes credits actors and actresses characters and their narratives promotional posters Facebook comments and official synopsis In addition to examining diversity of race and religion it analyses ageism through the portrayal of elders and young people in idealized imagery and stereotypes inclusivity of LGBTQ and disabled characters and ageism in relation to both masculinities and femininities This book will be of interest to readers in fields including gender studies and sociology visual communication film and television studies aging media and communications and popular culture Warning! This Product Contains Nuttiness Sam Venable,2025-10-22 As seen through the eyes of Sam Venable the world is indeed bizarre and filled with nuttiness The archives of the Knoxville News Sentinel offer ample evidence that Venable is a bit of the former and has made a career out of drawing attention to the latter For his latest book Venable has gathered and organized 139 of his newspaper columns his biggest collection yet to create a trove of wit and wisdom In the spirit of The Emperor s New Clothes he points a finger at human nature the environment civil rights and wrongs and an eclectic mix of other targets drawing our attention to the foibles failings and just plain absurdities that surround us all As a native son and treasured institution in East Tennessee Venable has earned the right to poke fun at its local history habits and happenings He takes full loving advantage of this license in essays such as How to Tawl Good Shall We Gather with a Reptile and The Good the Bad the Kudzu He takes on the government in a section titled A Two Ring Circus with Elephants and Donkeys and in another called Still Waiting for Y2K he offers up A Lesson in Dollars and Sense and Blowing the Budget for Bowser Some have called him a modern day Mark Twain others the Dave Barry of Knoxville but while there may be some similarities Sam Venable is wonderfully unique He sees and sees through the pervasive silliness and stupidity in our world It evokes wonder in him and with many a deft turn of phrase he interprets that wonder for us Warning This Product Contains Nuttiness will make you smile certainly but it will also make you think and sometimes even touch your heart

Imagining Home Diana Cavuoto Glenn, Eric Bouvet, Sonia Floriani, 2011 The peer reviewed essays presented in this interdisciplinary volume explore the many facets of migration and the consequences of displacement on the lives of those individuals who undertake the experience The volume analyses how migrants both experience and express the complex nature of migration and how this significant event affects and transforms individual lives and communities In discussing the migratory experience the authors explore historical and contemporary overseas and transnational forced and voluntary migrations They also utilise multiple sources including historical and archival research oral testimony literature film radio sites of memory material culture and the analysis of discourse narratives The title of the volume Imagining Home Migrants and the search for a new belonging reflects the many ways that the notions of home and belonging can question and redefine each other
