Greeting

Whenever possible, address the hiring manager by name.

04

Dear Ms. Smith:

Opening

Who are you?
What are your relevant skills and accomplishments?

05

I read your advertisement for a marketing manager at Media Raven Inc. with great interest.

As J&J Company's marketing manager since 2018, I directed all phases of both the creative and technical elements of marketing initiatives including data mining, brand creation, print/web collateral development, lead generation, channel partner cultivation, customer segmentation/profiling, as well as CRM and acquisition strategies.

Body (1-3 paragraphs)

What do you know about the company?
Why are you applying for this job?
What value can you bring to the company?
Include measurable results when possible.

06

Perhaps most importantly, I offer a history of proven results, as evidenced by the following marketing accomplishments for my current employer:

- Captured a 28% expansion in customer base since 2018, achieved during a period of overall decline in the retail industry.
- Led national marketing campaign (comprised of trade show, media, and PD initiatives) of my company's newly launched technology services division.
- Developed and executed SEO strategy that achieved and sustained top 3 rankings on Google (organic, nonpaid results) for key product search terms.
- Oversaw the creation of a new company logo and rebranded 100+ products to cement a cohesive corporate identity and support new company direction.

Given the opportunity, I'm confident in my ability to achieve similar groundbreaking marketing results for Media Raven, Inc.

Closing

Reiterate your interest.

often lengthy process only one person gets the job Everyone else starts the whole process again Older Americans women and minorities can often face an even more difficult road due to unspoken but ever present biases There is a better way Tomorrow Is Today dispels the myth that the most qualified candidate always gets the job It points out that the person who is hired is usually the one who is liked the best This book can be a major factor in how you differentiate yourself from other candidates when the hiring decision is almost always based upon subjective factors such as the individual s personality style body language and manner of being interviewed It is an invaluable resource in helping you to achieve your next position with added features that assist in effectively managing both career growth and family issues
