Hunger Hotspots Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,WFP, In the current edition of a regular joint bi yearly report the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations FAO and the World Food Programme WFP warn that acute food insecurity is likely to worsen across 13 countries and territories identified as hotspots during the outlook period from June to October 2025 The Sudan Palestine South Sudan Haiti and Mali remain hotspots at the highest concern level while Yemen the Democratic Republic of the Congo and Myanmar are classified as hotspots of very high concern Other hotspots are Afghanistan Burkina Faso Chad Somalia and the Syrian Arab Republic Since the October 2024 edition Afghanistan and the Democratic Republic of the Congo have been elevated to hotspot status Conversely regional clusters in East Africa Ethiopia and Kenya and Southern Africa Lesotho Malawi Mozambique Namibia Zambia and Zimbabwe as well as Niger are no longer classified as hotspots due to improvements in climatic conditions Nigeria and Lebanon are also no longer classified as hotspots due to some improvement in the economic situation and a reduction in the intensity of military operations respectively Although these countries are no longer considered hotspots for the outlook period future economic and conflict related shocks or climatic shifts could lead to their reclassification For the outlook period funding for food and nutrition assistance falls critically short Funding for humanitarian assistance must not be reduced Instead urgent assistance should be scaled up to protect livelihoods and improve food access across all hunger hotspots This report outlines country specific recommendations for urgent emergency responses as well as anticipatory actions to meet existing humanitarian needs and implement short term protective interventions before new crises emerge The report focuses on the most severe and deteriorating acute hunger situations but it does not represent all countries territories experiencing high levels of acute food insecurity Ninja® Foodi™

However prevailing processing technologies present critical challenges especially in terms of safety and quality aspects and thus there is an urgent need for the development of more efficient and safer systems. The FAO Thiaroye fish processing technique (FTT) was developed to address these challenges by yielding products that comply with international limits on polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbons in particular while fostering many social economic and environmental benefits. This document examines the conditions in which improved fish smoking systems in general and the FTT in particular have been adopted in the context of benefits trade offs and policy implications in selected developing countries. In fact experience from some African and Asian countries points to the need for a context driven balance that ensures that the gains associated with the use of this new technique can be realized without making expensive compromises especially in terms of fisheries resources status and trade dynamics. Policy and regulatory frameworks need to be informed by a risk based approach and supportive of consistent benchmarking and differentiation of FTT products. This document reviews the lessons from those countries and makes the case for a hard evidence based policy backbone to safeguard the sustainable eco friendly supply of safe smoked and dried fishery products to support food security particularly in the developing world. It aims to enlighten policy makers, fisheries planners and decision makers and any development practitioner interested in developing small scale fisheries or promoting sustainable food systems as well as private sector entrepreneurs who wish to implement this technology to improve their products It provides recommendations on how best to mainstream consumers interests while supporting sustainable livelihoods interventions in fisheries communities Page 4 of cover Newsweek Raymond Moley, Samuel Thurston Williamson, Malcolm Muir, Rex Smith, Joseph Becker Phillips, 1997 Sport Aviation ,2008
