Nolan,2001-07-26 China has used industrial policies to try to build large corporations that can challenge those based in more advanced countries By the late 1990s the operational mechanism of China s large firms had seen large advances Simultaneously a revolution has taken place in global business systems and China s large firms are even further behind the global leaders than when they began their reforms The WTO will require China to operate rapidly on the global playing field in competition with the world s leading corporations and this increased gap presents a deep challenge for China s business and political leaders Peter Nolan presents here the first in depth case studies of China s large corporations under economic reform combined with systematic benchmarking of these firms against the world s leading corporations The book is an unrivalled resource of information on Chinese businesses and also leads the reader to consider the impact of China's response to its current challenges not only on China itself but on the wider global economy Site Management of Building Services Contractors Jim Wild, 2002-09-11 Managing building services contractors can prove to be a minefield. The most successful jobs will always be those where building site managers have first built teams focused on tackling issues that might cause adversarial attitudes later on and jeopardize the project. The author shows how a simple common management approach can improve site managers' competency in overseeing building services contractors, sub-traders and specialists and maximize the effectiveness of time spent on building services Transactions Institute of Marine Engineers, 1937
