Ntional Exemplar For Life Orientation:

Challenges of Living Elizabeth D. Hutchison, Holly C. Matto, Marcia P. Harrigan, Leanne W. Charlesworth, Pamela A. Viggiani, 2007-04-20 This timely text draws on interdisciplinary theory and research to examine the multidimensional risk and protective factors for eight challenges of living frequently encountered by social workers. The authors provide a working model for social workers to integrate the most up to date evidence about challenges of living they face in their daily practice. Using a multidimensional biopsychosocial spiritual perspective, the book examines etiology, course, and intervention strategies related to these eight challenges of living. Key Features: Examines exemplar challenges of living. The working model is applied to eight major problems commonly encountered by social workers: financial impoverishment, community violence, child maltreatment, traumatic stress disorders, substance abuse, obesity, HIV/AIDS, and major depression. Presents a range of theories of causation. The book provides up to date and accessible coverage of biological risk and protective factors and emphasizes how each challenge of living is experienced across diverse identity groups. Makes the material come alive. Four life studies are woven throughout chapters to illustrate theory and research. Promotes critical thinking. Active Learning Exercises help students integrate knowledge about the case, knowledge about the self, and values and ethics with general knowledge from the behavioral sciences. Intended Audience: This is an excellent supplemental text for advanced undergraduate and graduate courses in social work and counseling such as Human Behavior in the Social Environment and Social Work Prevention. Since the book offers an interdisciplinary perspective, it may also be of interest to those in the psychology, public health, and allied health disciplines. Cumulated Index Medicus, 1995

Community and Critique Sara C. VanderHaagen, 2025-09-25 How Black American women have uplifted Black communities and critiqued dominant white memories. In Community and Critique, Sara C. VanderHaagen analyzes Black women's memory work, a deliberate public effort to create, preserve, revise, and circulate accounts of the past to strengthen community bonds and effect change. VanderHaagen draws from the resources of rhetorical studies, public memory studies, and Black feminism to examine key examples of Black women's memory work during the critical historical period between Reconstruction and the Harlem Renaissance. These instances include public addresses about exemplary women, speeches given at the 1893 World's Congress of Representative Women, the 1923 campaign against the Black Mammy monument that was proposed for creation in Washington DC, and the 1926 biography collection Homespun Heroines and Other Women of Distinction. Responding to a call by Black feminist scholars to move beyond recovery toward deeper engagement with Black women's intellectual and rhetorical work, Community and Critique centers the memory work of Black American women to demonstrate the significant, if underexamined, role that they played in shaping our shared past.

Silence and Listening as Rhetorical Arts Cheryl Glenn, Krista Ratcliffe, 2011-01-05 In Silence and Listening as Rhetorical Arts, editors Cheryl Glenn and Krista Ratcliffe bring together seventeen essays by new and established scholars that demonstrate the value and importance of silence and listening to the study and practice of rhetoric Building on the editors groundbreaking research which respects the power of the spoken word while challenging the marginalized status of silence and listening this volumemakes a strong case for placing these overlooked concepts and their intersections at the forefront of rhetorical arts within rhetoric and composition studies Divided into three parts History Theory and Criticism and Praxes this book reimagines traditional histories and theories of rhetoric and incorporates contemporary interests such as race gender and cross cultural concerns into scholarly conversations about rhetorical history theory criticism and praxes For the editors and the other contributors to this volume silence is not simply the absence of sound and listening is not a passive act When used strategically and with purpose together and separately silence and listening are powerful rhetorical devices integral to effective communication The essays cover a wide range of subjects including women rhetors from ancient Greece and medieval and Renaissance Europe African philosophy and African American rhetoric contemporary antiwar protests in the United States activist conflict resolution in Israel and Palestine and feminist and second language pedagogies Taken together the essays in this volume advance the argument that silence and listening are as important to rhetoric and composition studies as the more traditionally emphasized arts of reading writing and speaking and are particularly effective for theorizing historicizing analyzing and teaching An extremely valuable resource for instructors and students in rhetoric composition and communication studies Silence and Listening as Rhetorical Arts will also have applications beyond academia helping individuals cultural groups and nations more productively discern and implement appropriate actions when all parties agree to engage in rhetorical situations that include not only respectful speaking reading and writing but also productive silence and rhetorical listening

A Story of Ambivalent Modernization in Bangladesh and West Bengal Pranab Chatterjee,2010 This book details the evolution of Bengali culture in both Bangladesh and West Bengal since antiquity and argues for its modernization Originally peripheral to Hindu civilization based in North India Bengali culture was subjected to various forms of Sanskritization Centuries of invasions 1204 1757 resulted most notably in the Islamization of Bengal Often there were conflicts between Sanskritization and Islamization Later colonization of Bengal by Britain 1757 led to a process of Anglicization which created a new middle class in Bengal that in turn created a form of elitism among the Bengali Hindu upper caste After British rule ended 1947 Bengali culture lost its elitist status in South Asia and has undergone severe marginalization Political instability and economic insufficiency as reflected by many quantitative and qualitative indicators are common and contribute to pervasive unemployment alienation vigilantism and instability in the entire region A Story of Ambivalent Modernization in Bangladesh and West Bengal is appropriate not only for Bengali intellectuals and scholars but for sociologists political scientists cultural anthropologists historians and others interested in a case study of how and why a given culture becomes derailed from its path toward modernization

The Saint and the Chopped-Up Baby Laura Ackerman Smoller, 2014-01-21 Vincent Ferrer 1350 1419 a celebrated Dominican preacher from Valencia was revered as a living saint during his lifetime receiving papal canonization within fifty years of his death In The Saint and the Chopped Up Baby Laura Ackerman Smoller recounts the fascinating story of how Vincent became the subject of widespread devotion ranging from the saint's tomb in Brittany to cult centers in Spain Italy France Germany and Latin America where Vincent is still venerated today Along the way Smoller traces the long and sometimes contentious process of establishing a stable image of a new saint Vincent came to be epitomized by a singularly arresting miracle tale in which a mother kills chops up and cooks her own baby only to have the child restored to life by the saint's intercession This miracle became a key emblem in the official portrayal of the saint promoted by the papal court and the Dominican order still haunted by the memory of the Great Schism 1378 1414 that had rent the Catholic Church for nearly forty years Vincent however proved to be a potent religious symbol for others whose agendas did not necessarily align with those of Rome Whether shoring up the political legitimacy of Breton or Aragonese rulers proclaiming a new plague saint or trumpeting their own holiness individuals imposed their own meanings on the Dominican saint Drawing on nuanced readings of canonization inquests hagiography liturgical sources art and devotional materials Smoller tracks these various appropriations from the time of Vincent's 1455 canonization through the eve of the Enlightenment In the process she brings to life a long raucous discussion ranging over many centuries The Saint and the Chopped Up Baby restores the voices of that conversation in all its complexity

Methods and Nations Michael J. Shapiro, 2004-06-01 Methods and Nations critiques one of the primary deployments of twentieth century social science comparative politics whose major focus has been nation building in the Third World often attempting to universalize and render self evident its own practices International relations theorists unable to resist the cognitive imperialism of a state centric social science have allowed themselves to become colonized Michael Shapiro seeks to bring recognition to forms of political expression alternative modes of intelligibility for things people and spaces that have existed on the margins of the nationhood practices of states and the complicit nation sustaining conceits of social science

Aging, Death, and the Completion of Being David D. Van Tassel, 2016-11-11 While the problems of aging are being studied with microscope computer and questionnaire as a medical social and economic challenge these essays introduce the humanistic perspective The assumption behind this work is that in history literature folklore and art we have the record of centuries of human experience to enhance our present understanding of aging old age and death Growing old is a process that occurs in every person every minute every hour that passes But if aging does not begin on the day of retirement at the age of sixty five what is the definition of old age Is it chronologically physiologically mentally or culturally determined Old age may not be a phase of life as easily identified as adolescence As our population continues to grow older we are ever more in need of greater sensitivity to the joys and tragedies of old age In recent years however our view of old age has been clouded by our negative feelings about death Old age has become inextricably associated with death It was not always so until a lower infant mortality rate better nutrition and a higher standard of living so greatly increased our chances of surviving into old age death was recognized as a threat at every stage of life This volume brings together twelve eminent scholars from various humanistic disciplines to trace the origins of our present attitudes and to identify the models and myths of old age in our culture The historians in the group ask how old people were treated in past societies Literary scholars and art critics discuss the effects of aging on the later works of authors and artists and art as a source of solace inspiration and revelation to the aged A philosopher explores a theme shared by all that the way one ages and dies is a function of the way one has lived Contributors John Demos Leon Edel Erik H Erikson Leslie Fiedler Tamara K Hareven Robert Kastenbaum Robert Kohn Juanita M Kreps Peter Laslett Francis V O Connor Robert F Sayre
