Love and Intimacy in Online Cross-Cultural Relationships Wilasinee Pananakhonsab, 2016-11-16. This book challenges assumptions about the motivations that drive women from relatively poor, developing countries to use intermarriage dating sites to find partners from relatively wealthy, developed countries. It is generally assumed that economic deprivation or economic opportunities are the main factors, but this book instead focuses on the work of women's imagination in online cross-cultural relationships, including the role of desire, love, and intimacy. The experiences of Thai women are used to explore how they initiate, develop, and maintain love and intimacy with Western men across distance and time. The book shows that in the absence of opportunities to search and meet partners from geographically distant parts of the world, the technology of the internet offers new ways of searching for and managing relationships and has significant consequences for local experiences and expectations of love and partnering. The book will be of interest to scholars and students with an interest in family and intimate life, gender, and sexualities, Asian and Thai studies, globalization, and nationalism, culture, and media, sociology, and anthropology.
