Teaching Children with Dyslexia Philomena Ott, 2007-05-07 Teaching Children with Dyslexia is essential reading for any teacher Special Educational Needs Coordinator or teaching assistant who wants an insider's account of what dealing successfully with dyslexia entails. This essential teaching companion includes chapters on how to spot dyslexia, screening and assessment tests, why it does not have to be hell to learn to spell, strategies for success for reluctant writers, meeting the challenge of dyslexia in adolescence. Unschooler Kerry McDonald, Peter Gray, 2019-05-07 Education has become synonymous with schooling, but it doesn't have to be. As schooling becomes increasingly standardized and test-driven, occupying more of childhood than ever before, parents and educators are questioning the role of schooling in society. Many are now exploring and creating alternatives. In a compelling narrative that introduces historical and contemporary research on self-directed education, Unschooler also spotlights how a diverse group of individuals and organizations are evolving an old schooling model of education. These innovators challenge the myth that children need to be taught in order to learn. They are parents who saw firsthand how schooling can dull children's natural curiosity and exuberance, and others who decided early on to enable their children to learn without school. Educators who left public school classrooms discuss launching self-directed learning centers to allow young people's innate learning instincts to flourish, and entrepreneurs explore their disillusionment with the teach and test approach of traditional schooling. New Media in the Classroom Cathy Burnett, Guy Merchant, 2018-05-24 This is an exciting publication that offers authentic approaches for educators to meet challenges of the literacy that students need in our evolving digital landscape. Key topics include: Building on children's experiences in and out of school; Supporting children to draw on multiple modes and media to develop and convey meaning; Developing a responsive approach to literacy provision; Investigating ways of encouraging collaboration through and around digital media; Encouraging children to use digital media safely and
