Rhythm in late-modern Stockholm Nathan Joel Young, 2020-01-23
Stockholm an iconically late modern city is home to Europe s first known multiethnolect Rinkeby Swedish Swedish language researchers describe the variety as staccato but rhythm has not been thoroughly investigated for any variety of Stockholm Swedish to date Not only does this study show that rhythm stratifies in the direction of staccato low alternation for the racialized working class rhythm is also significantly high alternation non staccato in the speech of the white working class The former is interpreted to be a feature of multiethnolect the latter a feature of S dersnack Stockholm s industrial era working class variety The higher classes produce an intermediate degree of rhythm in casual speech Working class formal speech appears to target upper class casual speech Within the racialized working class a generational difference was found Those born before 1983 mainly achieve staccato with a reduction of accented vowels Those born after 1983 achieve it by enlarging unstressed vowels The change point coincides with significant socio historical transformations that occurred when the speakers were in adolescence In all styles younger speakers of any background have more staccato speech than older speakers of the same background It is proposed that this is due to the diffusion of contact prosody for which multiethnolect is one key conduit
