Communication and Sport Michael L. Butterworth, 2021-07-19 Sport is a universal feature of global popular culture It shapes our identities affects our relationships and defines our communities It also influences our consumption habits represents our cultures and dramatizes our politics In other words sport is among the most prominent vehicles for communication available in daily life Nevertheless only recently has it begun to receive robust attention in the discipline of communication studies The handbook of Communication and Sport attends to the recent and rapid growth of scholarship in communication and media studies that features sport as a central site of inquiry The book attempts to capture a full range of methods theories and topics that have come to define the subfield of communication and sport or sports communication It does so by emphasizing four primary features First it foregrounds communication as central to the study of sport This emphasis helps to distinguish the book from collections in related disciplines such as sociology and also points readers beyond media as the primary or only context for understanding the relationship between communication and sport Thus in addition to studies of media effects mediatization media framing and more readers will also engage with studies in interpersonal intercultural organizational and rhetorical communication Second the handbook presents an array of methods theories and topics in the effort to chart a comprehensive landscape of communication and sport scholarship Thus readers will benefit from empirical interpretive and critical work and they will also see studies drawing on varied texts and sites of inquiry Third the handbook of Communication and Sport includes a broad range of scholars from around the world It is therefore neither European nor North American in its primary focus In addition the book includes contributors from commonly under represented regions in Asia Africa and South America Fourth the handbook aims to account for both historical trajectories and contemporary areas of interest In this way it covers the central topics debates and perspectives from the past and also suggests continued and emerging pathways for the future Collectively the handbook of

Communication and Sport aspires to provide scholars and students in communication and media studies with the most comprehensive assessment of the field available

Disinformation and Data Lockdown on Social Platforms Shawn Walker, Dan Mercea, Marco Bastos, 2021-12-26 This book addresses the question of how researchers can conduct independent ethical research on mal mis and disinformation in a rapidly changing and hostile data environment The escalating issue of data access is thrown into sharp relief by the large scale use of bots trolls fake news and strategies of false amplification the effects of which are difficult to quantify due to a corporate environment favouring platform lockdowns and the restriction of access to Application Programming Interfaces APIs As social media platforms increase obstacles to independent scholarship by dramatically curbing access to APIs researchers are faced with the stark choice of either limiting their use of trace data or developing new methods of data collection Without a breakthrough social media research may go the way of search engine research in which only a small group of researchers who have direct relationships with search companies such as Google and Microsoft can access data and conduct research The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the journal Information Communication Society

Employability via Higher Education: Sustainability as Scholarship Alice Diver, 2019-09-23 This book discusses the topic of graduate employability from the premise that in this era of massification economic austerity and political uncertainties higher education HE no longer guarantees a clear work place advantage Divided into three sections the book offers theoretical and philosophical discourses on the HE quandary whilst taking into account and critiquing political temporal and national contexts It culminates in an investigation into specific discipline areas It offers insights into the way that institutions decision makers academics and professional support staff can work together towards ensuring that our graduates are able to cope with the varied demands and challenges of modern job markets It harnesses arguments and reflections on the breadth and depth of the functions of HE such as social transformation promoting principles of social justice and providing opportunities It grounds these in a triadic model for enhancing student engagement and holistic learning namely the emotional cognitive and behavioural aspects As an anthology it is forward gazing in terms of the sustainability debate whilst still offering evidence based research grounded practical suggestions to readers looking for tips and tools of the trade

The Routledge Handbook of Gender Politics in Sport and Physical Activity Győző Molnár, Rachael Bullingham, 2022-07-29 This progressive and broad ranging handbook offers a comprehensive overview of the complex intersections between politics gender sport and physical activity shining new light on the significance of gender sport and physical activity in wider society Featuring contributions from leading and emerging researchers from around the world the book makes the case that gender studies and critical thinking around gender are of particular importance in an era of increasingly intolerant populist politics It examines important long term as well as emerging themes such as recent generational shifts in attitudes to gender identity in sport and the socio cultural expectations on men and women that have traditionally influenced and often disrupted their engagement with sport and physical activity and explores a wide range of current issues in contemporary sport from debates around the contested gender binary and sex verification to the role of the media and social media and the significance of gender in sport leadership policy and decision making This book is an authoritative survey of the current state of play in research connecting gender sport physical activity and politics and is an important contribution to both sport studies and gender studies It is fascinating reading for any student researcher policy maker or professional with an interest in sport physical activity social studies public health or political science

EU Competition Law, Data Protection and Online Platforms: Data as Essential Facility Inge Graef, 2016-10-17 All are agreed that the digital economy contributes to a dynamic evolution of markets and competition Nonetheless concerns are increasingly raised about the market dominance of a few key players Because these companies hold the power to drive rivals out of business regulators have begun to seek scope for competition enforcement in cases where companies claim that withholding data is needed to satisfy customers and cut costs This book is the first focus on how competition law enforcement tools can be applied to refusals of dominant firms to give access data on online platforms such as search engines social networks and e commerce platforms commonly referred to as the gatekeepers of the Internet The question arises whether the denial of a dominant firm to grant competitors access to its data could constitute a refusal to deal and lead to competition law liability under the so called essential facilities doctrine according to which firms need access to shared knowledge in order to be able to compete A possible duty to share data with rivals also brings to the forefront the interaction of competition law with data protection legislation considering that the required information may include personal data of individuals Building on the refusal to deal concept and using a multidisciplinary approach the analysis covers such issues and topics as the following data portability interoperability data as a competitive advantage or entry barrier in digital markets market definition and dominance with respect to data disruptive versus sustaining innovation role of intellectual property regimes economic trade off in essential facilities cases relationship of competition enforcement with data protection law and data related competition concerns in merger cases The author draws on a wealth of relevant material including EU and US decision making practice case law and policy documents as well as economic and empirical literature on the link between competition and innovation The book concludes with a proposed framework for the application of the essential facilities doctrine to potential forms of abuse of dominance relating to data In addition it makes suggestions as to how data protection interests can be integrated into competition policy An invaluable contribution to ongoing academic and policy discussions about how data related competition concerns should be addressed under competition law the analysis clearly demonstrates how existing competition tools for market definition and assessment of dominance can be applied to online platforms It will be of immeasurable value to the many jurists business persons and academics concerned with this very timely subject
