This is a significant scholarly work that analyses in depth an important development in higher education systems and which is likely to have an important influence upon how we understand the higher education policy making process past present and future

It provides new analysis and conceptual understanding for researchers and firm evidence for policy makers to use when addressing the value of rankings in measuring the quality of their institutions

Besides bringing together a powerful cast of academics this book incorporates contributions from heads of important international higher education organisations from both those involved in making and also in administering key decisions

This timely reflective and accessible book forms crucial reading for those studying the subject of rankings as well as the broader implications and unintended consequences of rankings on national higher education policies

Extending beyond academic researchers and students this book will also be of significant interest to policymakers higher education leaders and key stakeholders

In Pursuit of World-Class Universities Marcelo Rabossi, K.M. Joshi, Saeed Paivandi, 2018-03-10

The pursuit to construct world class universities is an ongoing global obsession across the world which lays emphasis on the development of competitive higher education and research systems as core national economic approach

The portrayal world class is more contextual rather than absolute the expression world class university has an irrefutable cachet

There is no solo clear cut definition of what organises a world class university WCU but there are few common attributes that majority of the experts point towards

The three attributes stated by Philip Altbach and Jamil Salmi that focus on a high concentration of talent abundant resources and favourable governance have been widely discussed in writings and practice

Both in developing and developed countries policymakers and higher education leaders are attempting to identify and outline their desires and plans aimed at achieving global ranking for their university

universities

Despite condemnation of the methodology the choice of indicators and weightings and the reliability and quality of data used for comparing performance the obsession for constructing world class universities has increased over the period of time

But how much do we really discern or comprehend regarding the ranking systems

What do the rankings really measure

Do rankings measure the quality and help in attaining the broad assignment of higher education

Does the competition as outcome of ranking raise standards

Is the ranking system an apposite instrument to frame higher education policies

This edited volume tries to look at the concept of world class universities in milieu of different countries of the world and explore their experiences either in existing WCUs or constructing WCU or attempting to create WCU

The country based chapters show differentiated paths of achievements and their approach towards the concept of WCU
