Bratkovich, 2020-08-06 Why do modern day sluggers like Aaron Judge prefer maple bats over the traditional ash bats swung by Ted Williams and others Why did the surge of broken bats in the early 21st century create a crisis for Major League Baseball and what steps were taken to address the issue Are different woods being considered by players and manufacturers Do insects disease and climate change pose a problem long term These and other questions are answered in this exhaustive examination of the history and future of wooden bats written for both lifelong baseball fans and curious newcomers Dislocating Anthropology? Simon Coleman, Peter Collins, 2020-05-15 Anthropology continues to develop both in terms of theory and in relation to the ways in which fieldwork is conducted Dislocating Anthropology seeks to capture and represent these developments through a collection of ethnographic essays that are cutting edge but which do not represent a complete break with what has gone before In recent years anthropologists have increasingly come to accept that fieldwork in bounded and discrete places is no longer tenable People can no longer be represented in these static parochial terms At the start of the 21st century and with the possibility of internet connections almost anywhere we have the potential to move even when we are stationary Each of the contributors to this collection have identified and attempted to understand sets of relationships that are both temporally and spatially dynamic that appear to flow into and out of the field Together the chapters shed light on a number of methodological conundrums or dislocations relating for example to locality identity fieldwork and reflexivity The book is concerned with dislocation as both practice and process and as such extends a theme that has arguably been central to Anthropology since Malinowski's Trobriand ethnography
