The Power of Cash Jay L. Zagorsky, 2025-03-24 Why cash is worth preserving in an increasingly cashless society Over the last thirty years we have witnessed a rapid transformation in the way that people pay for goods and services Where we used to use cash for all but our largest purchases many people now prefer credit cards debit cards cryptocurrency and electronic services like Venmo PayPal or Alipay And that s not necessarily a good thing In The Power of Cash Why Using Paper Money is Good for You and Society Professor Jay Zagorsky former advisor to the Boston Federal Reserve delivers a startlingly insightful and eye opening discussion of the harmful and unintended consequences of the demise of paper money The author convincingly argues that cash is an essential and helpful tool that s worth preserving for the long run You ll learn why using cash makes it easier to control your spending secures your anonymity and privacy against bad actors intent on stealing your data mitigates the chaos of climate change and war and helps the poor vulnerable unbanked and disenfranchised to navigate society You ll also discover When business and governments can refuse to take your paper money How cash maintains your privacy and anonymity from tech companies hackers banks and others How cash ensures companies cannot charge you a high custom price The potential dangers of giving governments control and knowledge of your spending How cash controls additional fees and costs associated with electronic purchases Perfect for anyone with an interest in the way we pay for the things we buy each and every day The Power of Cash is also a must read for people interested in the implications of a truly cashless society on personal finance technology politics and social justice

Poverty, food insecurity, and social protection during COVID-19 in Myanmar: Combined evidence from a household telephone survey and micro-simulations Headey, Derek D., Oo, Than Zaw, Mahrt, Kristi, Diao, Xinshen, Goudet, Sophie, Lambrecht, Isabel, 2020-11-10 This study assesses the welfare impacts of COVID 19 on households in Myanmar by combining recent high frequency telephone survey evidence for two specific rural and urban geographies with national level survey based simulations designed to assess ex ante impacts on poverty with differing amounts of targeted cash transfers The first source of evidence the COVID 19 Rural and Urban Food Security Survey C19 RUFSS consists of four rounds of monthly data collected from a sample of over 2 000 households all with young children or pregnant mothers divided evenly between urban and peri urban Yangon and the rural Dry Zone This survey sheds light on household incomes prior to COVID 19 January 2020 incomes and food security status soon after the first COVID 19 wave June 2020 the gradual economic recovery thereafter July and August 2020 and the start of the second COVID 19 wave in September and October 2020 This survey gives timely and high quality evidence on the recent welfare impacts of COVID 19 for two important geographies and for households that are nutritionally highly vulnerable to shocks due to the presence of very young children or pregnant mothers However the relatively narrow geographic and demographic focus of this telephone survey and the need for forecasting the poverty impacts of COVID 19 into 2021 prompt us to explore simulationbased evidence derived by applying parameter shocks to household models developed from nationally representative household survey data collected prior to COVID 19 the 2015 Myanmar Poverty and Living Conditions Survey MPLCS By realistically simulating the kinds of disruptions imposed on Myanmar s economy by both international forces e g lower agricultural exports and workers remittances and domestic COVID 19 prevention measures e g stay at home orders and temporary business closures we not only can predict the impacts of COVID 19 on household poverty at the rural urban and national levels but also can assess the further benefits to household welfare of social protection in the form of monthly household cash transfers of different magnitudes Combined these two sources of evidence yield insights on both the on the ground impacts of COVID 19 in recent months and the potential poverty reduction impacts of social protection measures in the coming year We conclude the study with a discussion of the policy implications of these findings 2017 CFR Annual
