Development Perspectives from the South Mawere, Munyaradzi,2016-12-14 Not so long ago The Economist described Africa as a hopeless continent This damning description

specifically referred to the development status of Africa While the debate on the political and socio economic under development of Africa had been raging on prior to the Economist s daring but controversial pronouncements it intensified from thereon Many concerned people from within the continent and elsewhere have reproved the proclamation but mainly in newspapers and the broadcast media Not enough has been done by development scholars to critically reflect on the description and status of Africa s development condition in a nuanced and systematic fashion Yet it is through incisive reflections and systematic engagements with Africa s situations and circumstances that directions and solutions to the African development predicament could be forged The present volume is an attempt to open up a constructive dialogue between the Global North and the Global South on the African under development conundrum The book is an eye opener to African governments social scientists policy makers and development scholars concerned with the urgent need to rethink reimagine and retheorise Africa s development gridlock

The Dynamics of Changing Higher Education in the Global South Busani Mpofu, Sabelo Ndlovu-Gatsheni, 2020-06-29 Today there are generally universities in Africa rather than African universities The legitimacy of the university in Africa is under serious questions now because of its complicity in racism patriarchy sexism colonialism capitalism genocide epistemicide linguicide culturecide and alienation In other words the university in Africa as we know it today is elitist and exclusionary Therefore rethinking the idea of the university is fundamental to overcoming its current deficiencies in the Global South This volume bringing together a number of national case studies and macro analyses on the dynamics of changing higher education in the Global South gestures towards the desired imagined decolonial African university which should be a site of multilingualism where African indigenous languages cosmologies and ontologies become a central part of its identity and soul intolerant of epistemicides linguicides and cultural imperialism but a site of cognitive and social justice that fully embraces the idea that all human beings are born into valid useful relevant and legitimate knowledge systems

African Women, ICT and Neoliberal Politics Assata Zerai, 2018-09-28 How can we promote people centered governance in Africa Cell phones information and communications technology ICT are shown to be linked to neoliberal understandings of more democratic governance structures defined by the Worldwide Governance Indicators as the rule of law corruption control regulation quality government effectiveness political stability no violence and voice and accountability However these indicators fall short they do not emphasize gender equity or pro poor policies Writing from an African feminist scholar activist perspective Assata Zerai emphasizes the voices of women in two ways 1 she examines how women s access to ICT makes a difference to the success of people centered governance structures and 2 she demonstrates how African women s scholarship too often marginalized must be used to expand and redefine the goals and indicators of democratic governance in African countries Challenging the status quo that praises the contributions of cell phones to the diffusion of knowledge and resultant better governance in Africa this book is an important read for scholars of politics and technology gender and politics and African Studies
