Greek Islander Migration to Australia since the 1950s Melissa N. Afentoulis, 2021-11-23 Illuminating the experiences of immigrants to Australia in the late twentieth century this book uses oral history to explore how identity and belonging are shaped through migration Between the 1950s and the 1970s many inhabitants from the small Greek island of Limnos travelled to Australia to flee post war devastation and economic disaster With an emphasis on the lived experiences and memories of Limnians the book sheds light on the emotional pain and trauma they felt as they were separated from their families and homeland Moving away from more traditional outlooks on migration studies this book emphasises the significance of ethno regional identity and analyses how it can bring strength and longevity to a constructed community Both the roles of men and women within the Greek diaspora are examined in the way that they made the difficult decision to leave their homeland and subsequently how they came to nurture and build families within a new evolving community Looking beyond first generation migration the author analyses the pattern of return visits to Limnos by the descendants of migrants Acting as a form of identity consolidation for second generation migrants this journey to the ancestral homeland highlights the fluidity of what it means to belong somewhere and redefines the notion of home The author provides an alternative perspective to traditional migration studies and reaffirms the importance of transnational identity A unique and important addition to research this book combines memory studies and oral narrative to analyse how identity and belonging can be shaped across borders rather than within them

Marriage Migration in Asia Sari K. Ishii, 2016-02-26 Men are disadvantaged in the marriage markets of many Asian countries and in some cases their response is to look abroad for a partner Receiving countries for marriage migrants include Japan Korea Taiwan Hong Kong and Singapore while the Philippines Thailand Vietnam Indonesia and parts of mainland China supply wives to these territories In the absence of uniform international regulations concerning the rights and obligations of partners such unions are treated differently in different jurisdiction In extreme cases migrants or their children become stateless and when marriages break down migrants sometimes face major legal problems In such circumstances marriage migrants are often portrayed as powerless uneducated victims Rejecting this perspective the authors in this volume explore the agency of women who migrate abroad to acquire opportunities unavailable to them in their homelands They show that the trajectories of marriage migrants are often not a simple movement from home to destination but can involve return repeated or extended migrations and that these transitions that can alter geographies of power in economics nationality or ethnicity Based on features shared by many marriage migrants the book identifies them as an emerging minority at the frontier of the nation state a group whose status may well carry over to future generations

Though regional and localized in many ways they are also very much universal in the questions they ask the lessons they teach and the connections they make. Nepali Migrant Women Shobha Hamal Gurung, 2015-11-17 In this pathbreaking and timely work Hamal Gurung gives voice to the growing number of Nepali women who migrate to the United States to work in the informal economy. Highlighting the experiences of thirty five women mostly college educated and middle class who take on domestic service and unskilled labor jobs Hamal Gurung challenges conventional portraits of Third World women as victims forced into low wage employment. Instead she sheds light on Nepali women's strategic decisions to accept downwardly mobile positions in order to earn more income thereby achieving greater agency in their home countries as well as in their diasporic communities in the United States. These women are not only investing in themselves and their families they are building transnational communities through formal participation in NGOs and informal networks of migrant workers. In great detail Hamal Gurung documents Nepali migrant women's lives making visible the profound and far reaching effects of their civic economic and political engagement.
