that leads to weight gain. The solution to these problems lies in the ability to change our eating habits. One way of controlling unnecessary weight gain is the eating low carb foods. This way the amount of calories in the food is closely controlled and helps in making one healthier. Low Carb diets have been defined differently depending on whether the point of discussion is centred on the amount of calories derived from carbohydrates or the percentage of carbohydrates in a diet. Generally though low carb diets can be described as those diets that help the body to derive between 5% to 45 % of calories from Carbohydrates. The normal percentage of calories that is supposed to be derived from Carbohydrates according to the U S guidelines on health is between 50% to 65%. Therefore a low carb diet refers to a conscious effort to try and limit the intake of foods with high carbohydrate levels especially those that cause a significant rise in blood sugar. Although the debate on the advantages of a low carb diet is still going on it s true that the tolerance of carbohydrates in the body varies from person to person. This type of diet then will suit or benefit those who are sensitive or whose tolerance to carbohydrates is low. The approach is to encourage the reduction of the intake of carbohydrates to levels that the body can tolerate. This approach targets the reduction or elimination from our diets foods like potatoes white rice white flour and sugar from the diet. The reduction of carbohydrates intake has been known to cause weight loss in people. To control this a low carb diet should be closely monitored so that immediately signs of weight loss are noticed the intake of carbohydrates is slowly increased until the body can control blood glucose. It s also advisable to embrace the ketogenic diet where the body generates energy from body fats instead of glucose. This leads the body into what is called fat adaptation or ket adaptation. This adaptation encourages body metabolism which leads to improvement of stamina. Energy from fat is long lasting unlike energy from glucose which quickly diminishes.
