Minding The Modern Human Agency Intellectual Traditions And Responsible Knowledge:

Minding the Modern Thomas Pfau, 2015-02-15 In this brilliant study Thomas Pfau argues that the loss of foundational concepts in classical and medieval Aristotelian philosophy caused a fateful separation between reason and will in European thought Pfau traces the evolution and eventual deterioration of key concepts of human agency will person judgment action from antiquity through Scholasticism and on to eighteenth century moral theory and its critical revision in the works of Samuel Taylor Coleridge Featuring extended critical discussions of Aristotle Gnosticism Augustine Aquinas Ockham Hobbes Shaftesbury Mandeville Hutcheson Hume Adam Smith and Coleridge this study contends that the humanistic concepts these writers seek to elucidate acquire meaning and significance only inasmuch as we are prepared positively to engage rather than historicize their previous usages Beginning with the rise of theological and eventually secular voluntarism modern thought appears increasingly reluctant and in time unable to engage the deep history of its own underlying conceptions thus leaving our understanding of the nature and function of humanistic inquiry increasingly frayed and incoherent One consequence of this shift is to leave the moral self expression of intellectual elites and ordinary citizens alike stunted which in turn has fueled the widespread notion that moral and ethical concerns are but a special branch of inquiry largely determined by opinion rather than dialogical reasoning judgment and practice A clear sign of this regression is the present crisis in the study of the humanities whose role is overwhelmingly conceived and negatively appraised in terms of scientific theories methods and objectives The ultimate casualty of this reductionism has been the very idea of personhood and the disappearance of an adequate ethical language Minding the Modern is not merely a chapter in the history of ideas it is a thorough phenomenological and metaphysical study of the roots of today's predicaments

Reframing Critical, Literary, and Cultural Theories Nicoletta Pireddu, 2018-09-04 This book participates in the ongoing debate about the alleged death of theory and the current post theoretical condition arguing that the finitude of theoretical projects does not mean end but rather contingency and transformation of thinking beyond irreconcilable doctrines Contributors from different cultural and scholarly backgrounds and based in three different continents propose new areas of investigation and interpretive possibilities reopening dialogues with past and present discourses from a plurality of perspectives and locations After a first section that reassesses the status and scopes of critique theory and literature the book foregrounds new or neglected critical vocabulary literary paradigms and narrative patterns to reread texts at the intersection with other branches of the humanities history philosophy religion and pedagogy It then explores geopolitical cultural and epistemological domains that have been historically and ideologically overdetermined such as postsocialist postcolonial and cosmopolitan spaces recodifying them as unstable sites of both conflicts and convergences By acknowledging the spatio temporal and cultural delimitations of any intellectual practice the book creates awareness of our own partiality and incompleteness but treats boundaries as zones of contact exchange and conceptual mobility that promote crossings and connections

Volition's Face Andrew Escobedo,2017-04-30 Modern readers and writers find it natural to contrast the agency of realistic fictional characters to the constrained range of action typical of literary personifications Yet no commentator before the eighteenth century suggests that prosopopoeia signals a form of reduced agency Andrew Escobedo argues that premodern writers including Spenser Marlowe and Milton understood personification as a literary expression of will an essentially energetic figure that depicted passion or concept transforming into action As the will emerged as an isolatable faculty in the Christian Middle Ages it was seen not only as the instrument of human agency but also as perversely independent of other human capacities for example intellect and moral character Renaissance accounts of the will conceived of volition both as the means to self creation and the faculty by which we lose control of ourselves After offering a brief history of the will that isolates the distinctive features of the faculty in medieval and Renaissance thought Escobedo makes his case through an examination of several personified figures in Renaissance literature Conscience in the Tudor interludes Despair in Doctor Faustus and book I of The Faerie Queen Love in books III and IV of The Faerie Queen and Sin in Paradise Lost These examples demonstrate that literary personification did not amount to a dim reflection of realistic fictional character but rather that it provided a literary means to explore the numerous conundrums posed by the premodern notion of the human will This book will be of great interest to faculty and graduate students interested in medieval studies and Renaissance literature A. Ambivalence of Modernity A. D. Cousins, Dani Napton, 2024-10-03 How A D Hope interpreted and reacted to modernity and modernism has been energetically discussed for some time What aspects of modernity did he find useful or prize What precisely did he dislike and why How did he make use even sometimes especially of what he disliked This book offers fresh answers to such questions from some of Australia's best known scholars It is a volume that will be of interest to undergraduates and professional academics alike Exorcising Philosophical Modernity Philip John Paul

Gonzales, 2020-03-18 What should Christian discourse look like after philosophical modernity In one manner or another the essays in this volume seek to confront and intellectually exorcise the prevailing elements of philosophical modernity which are inherently transgressive disfigurations and refigurations of the Christian story of creation sin and redemption To enact these various forms and styles of Christian intellectual exorcism the essays in this volume make appeal to and converse with the magisterial corpus of Cyril O Regan The themes of the essays center around the gnostic return in modernity apocalyptic theology and the question of the bounds and borders of Christian orthodoxy Along the way diverse figures are treated such as Hegel Shakespeare von Balthasar Przywara Ricouer Deleuze Merleau Ponty and Kristeva Exorcising Philosophical Modernity Cyril O Regan and Christian Discourse after Modernity is a veritable feast of post modern Christian thought Rhetoric,

Poetics, and Literary Historiography Stefan H. Uhlig, 2024-01-23 In Rhetoric Poetics and Literary Historiography Stefan H Uhlig offers a new account of the emergence of literary studies Most histories of the early years of the field search for unifying origins of literature as a discipline and object of study Uhlig turns to the decades around 1800 in Europe to reveal that the inception of the literary field was instead defined by intellectual diversity and contestation He draws on an array of European writers to show how three schools of literary study rhetoric teaching theories of poetry and literary history emerged and clashed during this time offering near contemporaneous yet divergent visions of how to understand literature Rhetoric and poetics thwarted criticism to different ends while literary historiography proved institutionally reassuring yet less useful as a tool for textual understanding Uhlig details how Scottish writers like Adam Smith and Hugh Blair taught rhetoric as a form self expression while Anglophone and German theorists of poetry like William Wordsworth Friedrich Schlegel and Johann Wolfgang von Goethe both engaged with and resented critics At the same time varying opinions on the practice of literary history emerged with Immanuel Kant and Thomas De Quincey arguing for the independence of literature from historical forces while writers like Matthew Arnold approached literature as a means of narrating cultural archives instead of drawing on close reading and analysis Rhetoric Poetics and Literary Historiography traces current debates in literary studies back to this formative moment serving as a guide to past and present controversies in the field Edinburgh

Critical History of Nineteenth-Century Christian Theology Daniel Whistler, 2017-09-08 Offers a new understanding of empathy and its relation to medicine and literature

Humanism and the Death of God Ronald E. Osborn, 2017 Humanism and the Death of God is a critical exploration of secular humanism and its discontents Through close readings of three exemplary nineteenth century philosophical naturalists or materialists who perhaps more than anyone set the stage for our contemporary quandaries when it comes to questions of human nature and moral obligation Ronald E Osborn argues that the death of God ultimately tends toward the death of liberal understandings of the human as well Any fully persuasive defense of humanistic values including the core humanistic concepts of inviolable dignity rights and equality attaching to each individual requires an essentially religious vision of personhood Osborn shows such a vision is found in an especially dramatic and historically consequential way in the scandalous particularity of the Christian narrative of God becoming a human He does not attempt to provide logical proofs for the central claims of Christian humanism along the lines some philosophers might demand Instead this study demonstrates how philosophical naturalism or materialism and secular humanisms and anti humanisms might be persuasively read from the perspective of a classically orthodox Christian faith

Some New World Peter Harrison, 2024-04-18 In his famous argument against miracles David Hume gets to the heart of the modern problem of supernatural belief We are apt says Hume to imagine ourselves transported into some new world where the whole form of nature is disjointed and every element performs its operation in a different manner from what it does at present This encapsulates observes Peter Harrison the disjuncture between contemporary Western culture and medieval societies In the Middle Ages people saw the hand of God at work everywhere Indeed many suppose that belief in the supernatural is likewise fundamental nowadays to religious commitment But dichotomising between naturalism and supernaturalism is actually a relatively recent phenomenon just as the notion of belief emerged historically late In this masterful contribution to intellectual history the author overturns crucial misconceptions myths about secular modernity challenging common misunderstandings of the past even as he reinvigorates religious thinking in the present
