Museums and the Shaping of Knowledge Eileen Hooper Greenhill, 1992-01-23 Museums have been active in shaping knowledge over the last six hundred years Yet what is their function within today's society At the present time when funding is becoming increasingly scarce difficult questions are being asked about the justification of museums Museums and the Shaping of Knowledge presents a critical survey of major changes in current assumptions about the nature of museums Through the examination of case studies Eileen Hooper Greenhill reveals a variety of different roles for museums in the production and shaping of knowledge Today museums are once again organising their spaces and collections to present themselves as environments for experimental and self directed learning Museums and the Shaping of Knowledge Eileen Hooper-Greenhill, 1992-01-01 Drawing on numerous case studies Hooper Greenhill presents a critical survey of major changes in current assumptions about the nature of museums and proves that museums are consciously organizing their spaces and collections to aid self learning This title available in eBook format Click here for more information Visit our eBookstore at www.ebookstore.tandf.co.uk Museums and Their Visitors Eileen Hooper-Greenhill, 2013-04-15 Museums are at a critical moment in their history In order to ensure survival into the next century museums and galleries must demonstrate their social relevance and use This means developing their public service functions through becoming more knowledgeable about the needs of their visitors and more adept at providing enjoyable and worthwhile experiences Museums and Their Visitors aims to help museums and galleries in this crucial task It examines the ways in which museums need to develop their communicative functions and with examples of case studies explains how to achieve best practice The special needs of a number of target audiences including schools families and people with disabilities are outlined and illustrated by examples of exhibition education and marketing policies The book looks in detail at the power of objects to inspire and stimulate and analyses the use of language in museums and galleries This is the first book to be written to guide museum and gallery staff in the development of provision for their visitors It will be of interest to students of museum heritage and leisure and tourism studies as well as to international museum professionals Museums and the Interpretation of Visual Culture Eileen Hooper-Greenhill, 2020-11-25 This is a multi disciplinary study that adopts an innovative and original approach to a highly topical question that of meaning making in museums focusing its attention on pedagogy and visual culture This work explores such questions as How and why is it that museums select and arrange artefacts shape knowledge construct a view How do museums produce values How do active audiences make meaning from what they experience in museums This stimulating book provokes debate and discussion on these topics and puts forward the idea of a new museum the post museum which will challenge the familiar modernist museum A must for students and professionals in the field The Educational Role of the Museum Eileen Hooper-Greenhill, 1999 Grounded in the strengths of its first edition this book has been restructured to include new papers and recent articles and presents front running theory and practice as it

addresses the relationships of museums and galleries to their audiences National Museums and the Origins of Nations Sheila Watson,2020-10-28 National Museums and the Origins of Nations provides the first international survey of origins stories in national museums and examines the ways in which such museums use the distant past as a vehicle to reflect the concerns of the political present Offering an international comparison of institutions in China North and South America the Middle East Europe and Australia the book argues that national museums tell us more about what sort of community a nation wishes to be today than how and why that nation came into being Watson also reveals the ways in which narrative and exhibition design attempt to engage the visitor in an emotional experience designed to promote loyalty to and pride in the nation or to remind visitors who are not citizens that they do not belong These narratives of origin are it is claimed based on so called factual accuracies but this book reveals that they are often selective emotional and rarely critiqued within institutions At a time when nationalism is very much back on the political agenda this book highlights how museums reflect current political and social concerns National Museums and the Origins of Nations will appeal to academics and students engaged in the study of museums heritage politics nationalism and history Centres and Cycles of Accumulation in and Around the Netherlands During the Early Modern Period Lissa Roberts,2011 The Netherlands housed a number of widely known envied and emulated centers of accumulation during the early modern period Raw and manufactured goods passed through Dutch port cities linking the country to global cycles of accumulation and exchange Its institutions of learning and culture similarly served as internationally famous centers of accumulation that furthered knowledge and cultural production embodied in the form of books maps prints exhibits and the like This collection of essays brings together the Dutch histories of manufacture commerce and global exchange along with the histories of knowledge and cultural circulation during the 17th and 18th centuries by anatomizing the multi faceted concept of accumulation The book explores the processes that led to the formation of concentrated often hybrid sites of material intellectual and cultural accumulation in the Netherlands and its overseas stations as well as the concerns and consequences to which the successes and challenges of accumulation gave rise It will be of interest to historians of science technology culture and economics Series Low Countries Studies on the Circulation of Natural Knowledge Vol 2 Online Museum Collections and Social Media Katharina Geis,2025-07-17 Museums increasingly digitize collections to expand public access and foster engagement beyond institutional spaces Katharina Geis explores how digital museum images are used shared and curated across platforms like Instagram TikTok and Pinterest Drawing on ethnographic research including participant observation and 90 interviews she examines how digital infrastructures and social contexts shape curation practices By tracing how users search for edit and share images the study reveals how digital image curation becomes a way of knowing about with and through artefacts in everyday life geography Written by an international team of prominent cultural geographers all of whom are experienced researchers this book is a fully illustrated guide to methodological approaches in cultural geography In order to demonstrate the practice of cultural geography each chapter combines the following features Practical instruction in using one of the main methods of cultural geography e g interviewing interpreting texts and visual images participatory methods An overview of a key area of concern in cultural geography e g the body national identity empire marginality A nuts and bolts description of the actual application of the theories and methods within a piece of research With the addition of boxed definitions of key concepts and descriptions of research projects by students who devised and undertook them Cultural Geography in Practice is an essential manual of research practice for both undergraduate and graduate geography students Museums and Education Eileen Hooper-Greenhill, 2007-12-12

At the beginning of the 21st century museums are challenged on a number of fronts The prioritisation of learning in museums in the context of demands for social justice and cultural democracy combined with cultural policy based on economic rationalism forces museums to review their educational purposes redesign their pedagogies and account for their performance The need to theorise learning and culture for a cultural theory of learning is very pressing If culture acts as a process of signification a means of producing meaning that shapes worldviews learning in museums and other cultural organisations is potentially dynamic and profound producing self identities How is this complexity to be measured What can this measurement reveal about the character of museum based learning The calibration of culture is an international phenomenon and the measurement of the outcomes and impact of learning in museums in England has provided a detailed case study Three national evaluation studies were carried out between 2003 and 2006 based on the conceptual framework of Generic Learning Outcomes Using this revealing data Museums and Education reveals the power of museum pedagogy and as it does questions are raised about traditional museum culture and the potential and challenge for museum futures is suggested Re-Shaping Learning: A Critical Reader Anne Boddington, Jos

Boys, 2012-01-01 Learning Spaces is an emerging field fuelled by a growing interest in the relationships between learning and spaces in which it takes place whether conceptual personal social physical and or virtual It is concerned with making learning spaces that can better meet the needs of 21st century learners academics and other related publics In post compulsory education this has opened up many interesting and important issues There remains a lack of any theoretical understanding as to how such spaces should be conceived or designed and hardly any critical discussion about effective frameworks for either the development of contemporary learning spaces or for assessing their impact on learning teaching and research At the same time there is much debate about what the purposes of post compulsory education should be as well as concerns about where and by whom it should be provided We therefore need to urgently improve our understanding of the interactions between learning and space It is essential that we not only share perspectives theories and methodologies but also critically reflect on our own different assumptions and work together to build better models for post compulsory education in the future To help in this process this book is designed as a critical reader that can enable researchers academics students and managers involved in Learning Spaces to share and engage with some key ideas issues and texts A central aim is to bring together some of the best research from across the many different disciplines concerned with learning spaces including education architecture anthropology human computer interaction estate planning and museum studies Reshaping Learning is thus intended for anyone interested in and wanting to think more about learning spaces whether as users clients or managers or who are want to better understand interactions between the social and the spatial Ireland's Heritages Mark McCarthy,2017-09-29 This book is the first sustained attempt to incorporate critical scholarship and thought at the cutting edge of contemporary geography history and archaeology into the burgeoning field of Irish heritage studies It seeks to illustrate the validity of multiple depictions of the Irish past showing how scrutiny of heritage practices and meanings is so essential for illuminating our understanding of the present Examining Ireland s heritages from a critical perspective that celebrates notions of heterogeneity and uniqueness the distinguished contributors to this book scrutinise the multiplicity of complex relations between heritage history memory commemoration economy and cultural identity within various historical geographical and archaeological contexts Using several examples and case studies this book raises issues not only from a uniquely Irish perspective but also investigates the memorialisation and marketing of the Irish past in overseas locations such as the USA and Australia The Ashgate Research Companion to Heritage and Identity Professor Brian Graham,Professor Peter Howard,2012-11-28 Heritage represents the meanings and representations conveyed in the present day upon artifacts landscapes mythologies memories and traditions from the past It is a key element in the shaping of identities particularly in the context of increasingly multicultural societies This Research Companion brings together an international team of authors to discuss the concepts ideas and practices that inform the entwining of heritage and identity They have assembled a wide geographical range of examples and interpret them through a number of disciplinary lenses that include geography history museum and heritage studies archaeology art history history anthropology and media studies This outstanding companion offers scholars and graduate students a thoroughly up to date guide to current thinking and a comprehensive reference to this growing field Cultural Heritage in the Arabian Peninsula Karen Exell,Trinidad Rico,2016-04-22 Heritage projects in the Arabian Peninsula are developing rapidly Museums and heritage sites are symbols of shifting national identities and a way of placing the Arabian Peninsula states on the international map Global i e Western heritage standards and practices have been utilised for the rapid injection of heritage expertise in museum development and site management and for international recognition The use of Western heritage models in the Arabian Peninsula inspires two key areas for research which this book examines the obscuring of indigenous concepts and practices of heritage and expressions of cultural identity and the tensions between local community concepts of heritage and identity and the new national identities being constructed through museums and heritage sites at a state level Museum

Deconstituting

Museums Helen Graham ,2025-09-10 Over the past 30 years museums have turned to participation in the hope that direct involvement of non museum staff would serve their claims to be accessible inclusive representative and diverse And yet adding participation to museums has often generated conflict disappointment and anger Deconstituting Museums argues that the difficulties produced by adding participatory practice arise from political incompatibility In the representational liberal logics that underpin museum decision making trustees and professionals make decisions on behalf of future generations and the public This is a political infrastructure the book names museum constitution Conversely participation arises from ideas and practices from direct and horizontal political traditions drawing those who act as facilitators into new relationships and expanding political imaginations Through sustained engagement with theories of affect materialism and feminist and decolonial praxis Helen Graham identifies techniques for deconstituting museums She uses experimental writing as a method to turn away from the desire to right institutional wrongs and towards relational and directly negotiated ways of organising In doing so she locates participation not as engagement but as a mode of governance that is enabled by and enables variant political ontologies This is an alternative named participatory worlding The affective work of facilitating participation has long tugged at and frayed museums constitutional liberal logics Deconstituting Museums envisages how participation and its affects might be activated in reworking the politics of heritage
