Music Emotion Recognition Multimedia Computing Communication And Intelligence:

Music Emotion Recognition Yi-Hsuan Yang, Homer H. Chen, 2011-02-22 Providing a comprehensive review of existing work in music emotion developed in psychology and engineering this book explains how to account for the subjective nature of emotion perception in the development of automatic music emotion recognition MER systems Among the first publications dedicated to automatic MER it begins with a complete introduction to the essential aspects of MER including background key techniques and applications This ground breaking reference examines emotion from a dimensional perspective It defines emotions in music as points in a 2D plane in terms of two of the most fundamental emotion dimensions according to psychologists valence and arousal Deep Learning in Personalized Music Emotion Recognition Yannik Venohr, 2025-04-28 Music has a unique power to evoke strong emotions in us bringing us to tears lifting us into ecstasy or triggering vivid memories Often described as a universal language it conveys feelings that transcend words But are machines too able to understand this language and capture emotions conveyed in music This book delves into the field of Musical Emotion Recognition MER aiming to develop a mathematical model to predict the emotional content of music It explores the fundamentals of this interdisciplinary research area including the relationship between music and emotions mathematical representations of music and deep learning algorithms Two MER models are developed and evaluated one employing handcrafted audio features with a long short term memory architecture and the other using embeddings from the pre trained music understanding model MERT Results show that MERT embeddings can enhance predictions compared to traditional handcrafted features Additionally driven by the subjectivity of musical emotions and the low inter rater agreement of annotations this book investigates personalized emotion recognition The findings suggest that personalized models surpass the limitations of general MER systems and can even outperform a theoretically perfect general MER system From Sounds to Music and Emotions Mitsuko Aramaki, Mathieu Barthet, Richard Kronland-Martinet, Sølvi Ystad, 2013-09-12 This book constitutes the thoroughly refereed post conference proceedings of the 9th International Symposium on Computer Music Modeling and Retrieval CMMR 2012 held in London UK in June 2012 The 28 revised full papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected for inclusion in this volume The papers have been organized in the following topical sections music emotion analysis 3D audio and sound synthesis computer models of music perception and cognition music emotion recognition music information retrieval film soundtrack and music recommendation and computational musicology and music education The volume also includes selected papers from the Cross Disciplinary Perspectives on Expressive Performance Workshop held within the framework of CMMR 2012 Personalized Human-Computer Interaction Mirjam Augstein, Eelco Herder, Wolfgang Wörndl, 2019-09-23 Personalized and adaptive systems employ user models to adapt content services interaction or navigation to individual users needs User models can be inferred from implicitly observed information such as the user s interaction history or current location or from explicitly entered information such as user profile data or ratings Applications of personalization include item recommendation location based services learning assistance and the tailored selection of interaction modalities With the transition from desktop computers to mobile devices and ubiquitous environments the need for adapting to changing contexts is even more important However this also poses new challenges concerning privacy issues user control transparency and explainability In addition user experience and other human factors are becoming increasingly important This book describes foundations of user modeling discusses user interaction as a basis for adaptivity and showcases several personalization approaches in a variety of domains including music recommendation tourism and accessible user interfaces Human Perception of Visual Information Bogdan Ionescu, Wilma A.

Bainbridge, Naila Murray, 2022-01-01 Recent years have witnessed important advancements in our understanding of the psychological underpinnings of subjective properties of visual information such as aesthetics memorability or induced emotions Concurrently computational models of objective visual properties such as semantic labelling and geometric relationships have made significant breakthroughs using the latest achievements in machine learning and large scale data collection There has also been limited but important work exploiting these breakthroughs to improve computational modelling of subjective visual properties The time is ripe to explore how advances in both of these fields of study can be mutually enriching and lead to further progress This book combines perspectives from psychology and machine learning to showcase a new unified understanding of how images and videos influence high level visual perception particularly interestingness affective values and emotions aesthetic values memorability novelty complexity visual composition and stylistic attributes and creativity These human based metrics are interesting for a very broad range of current applications ranging from content retrieval and search storytelling to targeted advertising education and learning and content filtering Work already exists in the literature that studies the psychological aspects of these notions or investigates potential correlations between two or more of these human concepts Attempts at building computational models capable of predicting such notions can also be found using state of the art machine learning techniques Nevertheless their performance proves that there is still room for improvement as the tasks are by nature highly challenging and multifaceted requiring thought on both the psychological implications of the human concepts as well as their translation to machines Multimedia Computing and Systems International Conference on Multimedia Computing and Systems, 1999 This two volume set contains the proceedings of the June 1999 conference devoted to presenting and exploring scientific and technological advancements innovations opportunities and solutions in Multimedia applications Among other topics the 318 contributions cover quality of service network management and distributed multimedia systems video compression web and video servers virtual and augmented reality computer graphics and animation multimodal interaction and usability content based retrieval from image and video databases authoring tools software engineering technologies for multimedia electronic commerce and educational cultural heritage and medical applications Contains an author index but no subject index Annotation c Book News Inc
