Music Therapy And Parent Infant Bonding:

Music Therapy and Parent-Infant Bonding Jane Edwards, 2011-07-07 Music Therapy and Parent Infant Bonding is the first title in the field of music therapy to explore the contribution that music therapy can make in the very early years for instance in situations regarding adopted children or in ameliorating the effects of maternal depression on the parent infant relationship

Music Therapy in the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit Joanne Loewy, 2003 Music Therapy for Premature and Newborn Infants Monika Nocker-Ribaupierre, 2004 Offers a comprehensive international collection of writings on music therapy with premature and newborn infants in Neonatal Intensive Care Units The book includes different approaches to research and clinical practice based on interdisciplinary knowledge and current research The purpose is to show the benefits of music therapy as a supportive intervention for hospitalized infants and their parents Musikalische Begleitung Fur Fruhgeborene Und Ihre Familien Susann Kobus, 2018-07-27 English summary This book deals with the family centered music therapy in the neonatology NICU and presents a music therapeutic concept for the accompaniment of families with a premature infant and at least one sibling The aim of the concept is to increase the self efficacy of the baby the parents and the sibling and to foster family ties which are already developing prenatally In order to fully support the families in their process the illustrated concept presents a music therapy support which begins prenatally in case of a high risk pregnancy and is continued peri and postnatal However it can be started or stopped at any time according to the indication or contraindication and is also recommendable for pregnant women without risk factors and mature newborns The music therapy aims primarily at the beginning of the parent child bonding and the sibling bonding as the most important protection factor in the child development and promotes a positive development of the child after the discharge from the neonatological care unit The time during a high risk pregnancy and after premature birth is characterized by fear hope disappointment confidence cohesion and self assertion High demands are also made on the sibling who is not only experiences a prolongation of parental care and attention but must also learn to tolerate and deal with it The sibling must also bear the burdens on the parents The stay of a newborn in a neonatal intensive care unit represents a crisis and stressful situation for the entire family Music therapy in the neonatology offers diverse and effective interventions to promote bonding development between the premature infant the parents and the siblings It helps the parents and the siblings to improve their sensitivity in dealing with the premature infant The music establishes on the intrauterine acoustic experience and helps to enrich the highly technical environment of the intensive care unit with something familiar and human It supports the premature infant in the adaptation of the extrauterine environment and promotes the perceptions that contribute to the structural and functional development of the child and the thriving of sensory perception Music therapy is an important preventive measure for the stability and development of a premature infant and can complete the existing medical treatment offer German description Dieses Buch beschäftigt sich mit der familienzentrierten Musiktherapie in der Neonatologie und stellt ein musiktherapeutisches Konzept für die Begleitung von Familien mit einem frühgeborenen Kind und mindestens einem Geschwisterkind vor. Das Konzept verfolgt das Ziel, die Selbstwirksamkeit des Kindes, seiner Eltern und seines Geschwisterkindes zu erhöhen und die familiäre Bindung, die sich bereits pränatal entwickelt, zu fördern. Um die Familien in ihrem Prozess vollumfänglich zu begleiten, wird in dem dargestellten Konzept eine musiktherapeutische Betreuung vorgestellt, die im Falle einer Risikoschwangerschaft pränatal beginnt und peri- und postnatal weitergeführt wird. Sie kann aber jederzeit entsprechend der Indikation oder Kontraindikation begonnen oder beendet werden und ist auch bei Schwangeren ohne Risikofaktor und reifen Neugeborenen empfehlenswert. Die Musiktherapie zielt primär auf die Anbahnung der Eltern-Kind-Bindung und der Geschwister-Bindung als wichtigsten Schutzfaktor in der kindlichen Entwicklung ab und fordert langfristig nach der Entlassung von der neonatologischen Station eine positive Entwicklung des Kindes. Die Zeit während einer Risikoschwangerschaft und nach der Frühgeburt ist geprägt von Angst, Hoffnung, Enttäuschung, Zuversicht, Zusammenhalt und Selbstbehauptung. Hohe Anforderungen werden auch an das Geschwisterkind gestellt, das nicht nur eine Verlagerung der elterlichen Fürsorge und Aufmerksamkeit miterlebt, sondern auch lernen muss, diese zu tolerieren und damit umzugehen. Das Geschwisterkind muss ebenso die Belastungen für die Eltern mittragen. Der Aufenthalt eines Neugeborenen auf einer neonatologischen Intensivstation stellt für die gesamte Familie ein krisenhaftes und stressbeladenes Lebensereignis dar. Die Musiktherapie in der Neonatologie bietet vielfältige und effektive Interventionen zur Förderung der Bindungsentwicklung zwischen dem frühgeborenen Kind, seinen Eltern und seinem Geschwisterkind. Sie trägt dazu bei, dass die Eltern und Geschwister ihre Feinfühligkeit im Umgang mit dem frühgeborenen Kind verbessern können. Die Musik knüpft an die intrauterinen akustischen Erfahrungen an und hilft damit, die hoch technisierte Umgebung einer Station oder Intensivstation durch etwas Bekanntes und Menschliches zu bereichern. Sie unterstützt das Frühgeborene in der Adaption der extrauterinen Umgebung und fordert somit die Wahrnehmungen, die zur strukturellen und funktionellen Entwicklung des Kindes beitragen und das Gedeihen über die Sinneswahrnehmung. Die Musiktherapie ist eine wichtige Präventionsmassnahme für die Stabilität und Entwicklung eines frühgeborenen Kindes und kann das bestehende medizinische Behandlungsangebot sinnvoll ergänzen.

Music Therapy in Pediatric Healthcare American Music Therapy Association, 2003. Music therapy is an established health care and human services profession that is dedicated to the implementation of controlled research studies to determine the underlying mechanisms in music that are responsible for therapeutic change as well as clinical research to direct and guide the work of the music therapist. This growing body of research has enabled the music therapy profession to establish itself as a viable treatment modality for children in many areas such as neurological rehabilitation and the use of music with premature infants. This book is a result of a project sponsored by the American Music Therapy Association and the National Academy for Recording Arts Sciences, which highlights research and evidence-based practice methods that are being used in neonatal intensive care units, pediatric burn care, critical care, and mechanical ventilation, neurological rehabilitation, chronic

Christina Sciascia, 2021 ABSTRACT Postpartum Depression and Parent Infant Attachment A Music Therapy Program Intervention Research Christina Sciascia This study proposes a music therapy intervention program designed to promote the early attachment of parent infant dyads that are affected by postpartum depression PPD Step one and part of step two of Fraser and Galinsky's 2010 approach to intervention research design was used to develop the program framework The student researcher reviewed 13 published Music Therapy articles and 12 published articles from related literature regarding early attachment Other seminal works were included for context definitions and theoretical underpinnings The student researcher used a directed content analysis approach to extract and analyze data necessary for developing and implementing the program Results are presented through tables and a proposed intervention program The findings show that the symptoms of PPD could impair parents well being and relational abilities which likely compromises parent infant attachment and has negative effects on infant development in the short and long term This music therapy program is designed to act upon identified variables in order to prevent and or mitigate the potentially damaging effects of PPD on attachment and infant development The main actions used to achieve these goals are group music therapy and coaching of wellness techniques and parenting skills Future research and recommendations are presented Music
