Fitzgerald, Gundula Bosch, 2023-11-28 Academic medical centers continue to require evidence of scholarly activity for their faculty to maintain their appointment and to advance in promotion rank For some training to know how to obtain evidence of scholarship was obtained through fellowship where information was passed from mentor to mentee in an apprenticeship fashion without a formalized text to follow to obtain the information In fellowship information might flow through word of mouth or articles handed down out to a mentee Others in fellowship develop skills by taking classes as part of an additional master s degree program such as a Master of Public Health For health professionals who enter an academic institution without having gone through a fellowship program they are still expected to perform scholarly activity but don t have the benefit of having done the apprenticeship to learn the skills so unless they decide to find a course obtain a master s degree or find a fellowship they have no way to gain the necessary skills and are at risk of losing their appointment and have no hope of progressing in promotion This text provides a comprehensive toolbox for the academic who needs these skills to survive It serves as a valuable resource for health professionals physicians nurses pharmacists physical therapists and allied professionals as well as scientists and students with the steps necessary to take their educational endeavors from idea to implementation through dissemination Beginning with the concept of What is Scholarship the authors walk the reader through the concepts of how to find your niche look through the literature to check for a gap design a question consider evaluation and outcomes be aware of ethical considerations plan a project look for support find mentorship prepare an abstract present a poster disseminate a project and lead a team All chapters are written by experts in the subject matter Envisioning Public Scholarship for Our Time Adrianna J. Kezar, Yianna Drivalas, Joseph A. Kitchen, 2023-07-03 This book proposes a new paradigm of public scholarship for our time one that shifts from the notion of the public intellectual to the model of the engaged scholar The editors premise is that the work of public scholarship should be driven by a commitment to supporting a diverse democracy and promoting equity and social justice The contributors to this volume present models that eschew the top down framing of policy to advocate for practice that drives bottom up change by arming the widest range of stakeholders especially members of marginalized communities with relevant research They demonstrate how public scholarship in higher education can increase its impact on practice and policy and compellingly argue that public scholarship should be recognized as normative practice for all scholars and indeed integrated into the curriculum of graduate courses The chapters describe multiple types of public scholarship and different strategies that move beyond informing policymakers faculty and administrators to engage publics such as students and parents media the general public and particularly groups that may have had little or no access to research Examples include partnering with a community agency to design a research project and disseminate results writing for practitioner or policy venues and magazines outside the traditional academic journals serving on boards for national groups that impact decisions related to your area of research and the use of social media Whether scholar director of graduate education or graduate student of higher education this book opens up a new vision of how research can inform practice that promotes the public good
