researchers in the field of home informatics The home is a key aspect of society and the widespread use of computers and other information appliances is transforming the way in which we live work and communicate in the information age This area of study has seen remarkable growth in the last few years as information technology has encroached into every corner of home and social spheres The papers selected here cover a growing range of topics including assistive technology smart homes home technology memory aids home activity appliance design design methodology time space and virtual presence social and ethical aspects and home activities This state of the art volume presents the proceedings of the Home Oriented Informatics and Telematics conference held in York U K April 13 15 2005 This collection will be important not only for home informatics experts and researchers but also for teachers administrators and anyone else seeking to keep up to date in this rapidly emerging field Task Models and Diagrams for Users Interface Design Karin Coninx,Kris Luyten,Kevin A. Schneider,2007-08-04 This book constitutes the thoroughly refereed post proceedings of the 5th International Workshop on Task Models and Diagrams for User Interface Design TAMODIA 2006 held in Hasselt Belgium More than 20 papers cover such topics as tool support model based interface development user interface patterns task centered design multi modal user interfaces reflections on tasks and activities in modeling as well as context and plasticity Human-Computer Interaction Symposium Fabio Paternò,Annelise Mark Pejtersen,2008-07-17 The IFIP World Computer Congress WCC is one of the most important conferences in the area of computer science and a number of related Human and Social Science disciplines at the worldwide level and it has a federated structure which takes into account the rapidly growing and expanding interests in this area Human Computer Interaction is now a mature and still dynamically evolving part of this area which is represented in IFIP by the Technical Committee 13 on HCI We are convinced that in this edition of WCC which takes place for the first time in Italy it will be interesting and useful to have a Symposium on Human Computer Interaction in order to present and discuss a number of contributions in this field There has been increasing awareness among designers of interactive systems of the importance of designing for usability but we are still far from having products that are really usable and usability can mean different things depending on the application domain We are all aware that too many users of current technology feel often frustrated because computer systems are not compatible with their abilities and needs with existing work practices As designers of tomorrow technology we have the responsibility of creating computer artefacts that would permit better user experience with the various computing devices so that users may enjoy more satisfying experiences with information and communications technologies Encyclopedia of Multimedia Technology and Networking, Second Edition Pagani, Margherita,2008-08-31 Advances in hardware software and audiovisual rendering technologies of recent years have unleashed a wealth of new capabilities and possibilities for multimedia applications creating a need for a comprehensive up to date reference The Encyclopedia of Multimedia Technology and Networking provides hundreds of contributions from over 200 distinguished international experts covering the most important issues concepts trends and technologies in multimedia technology This must have reference contains over 1 300 terms definitions and concepts providing the deepest level of understanding of the field of multimedia technology and networking for academicians researchers and professionals worldwide   People and Computers XIX - The Bigger Picture Tom McEwan,Jan Gulliksen,David Benyon,2007-12-20 As a new medium for questionnaire delivery the Internet has the potential to revolutionize the survey process Online Web based questionnaires provide several advantages over traditional survey methods in terms of cost speed appearance flexibility functionality and usability Bandilla et al 2003 Dillman 2000 Kwak they can incorporate links and it is possible to encode difficult skip patterns making such patterns virtually invisible to respondents Despite this and the emergence of numerous tools to support online questionnaire creation current electronic survey design typically replicates the look and feel of pap based questionnaires thus failing to harness the full power of the electronic survey medium A recent environmental scan of online questionnaire design tools found that little if any support is incorporated within these tools to guide questionnaire design according to best practice Lumsden Morgan 2005 This paper briefly introduces a comprehensive set of guidelines for the design of online questionnaires It then focuses on an informal observational study that has been conducted as an initial assessment of the value of the set of guidelines as a practical reference guide during online questionnaire design 2 Background Online questionnaires are often criticized in terms of their vulnerability to the four standard survey error types namely coverage non response sampling and measurement errors   User Interfaces for Wearable Computers Hendrik Witt,2009-04-20 Hendrik Witt examines user interfaces for wearable computers and analyses the challenges imposed by the wearable computing paradigm through its dual task character He introduces a special software tool as well as the HotWire evaluation method to facilitate user interface development and evaluation Based on the results of different end user experiments conducted to study the management of interruptions with gesture and speech input in a wearable computing scenario the author derives design guidelines and general constraints for forthcoming interface designs

Desmarais,2009-06-19 Activity theory is a way of describing and characterizing the structure of human tivity of all kinds First introduced by Russian psychologists Rubinshtein Leontiev and Vigotsky in the early part of the last century activity theory has more recently gained increasing attention among interaction designers and others in the hum computer interaction and usability communities see for example Gay and H brooke 2004 Interest was given a signi cant boost when Donald Norman suggested activity theory and activity centered design as antidotes to some of the putative ills of human centered design Norman 2005 Norman who has been credited with coining the phrase user centered design suggested that too much attention focused on human users may be harmful that to design better tools designers need to focus not so much on users as on the activities in which users are engaged and the tasks they seek to perform within those activities Although many researchers and practitioners claim to have used or been in uenced by activity theory in their work see for example Nardi 1996 it is often dif cult to trace precisely where or how the results have actually been shaped by activity theory Inmanycases evendetailedcasestudiesreportresultsthatseemonlydistantlyrelated if at all to the use of activity theory Contributing to the lack of precise and traceable impact is that activity theory spite its name is not truly a formal and
