Marion Leonard explores different representations of masculinity offered by and performed through rock music and examines how female rock performers negotiate this gendering of rock as masculine. A major concern of the book is not specifically with men or with women performing rock but with how notions of gender affect the everyday experiences of all rock musicians within the context of the music industry. Leonard addresses core issues relating to gender rock and the music industry through a case study of female centred bands from the UK and US performing so called indie rock from the 1990s to the present day. Using original interview material with both amateur and internationally renowned musicians the book further addresses the fact that the voices of musicians have often been absent from music industry studies. Leonard's central aim is to progress from feminist scholarship that has documented and explored the experience of female musicians to presenting an analytic discussion of gender and the music industry. In this way the book engages directly with a number of under researched areas: the impact of gender on the everyday life of performing musicians; gendered attitudes in music journalism; promotion and production; the responses and strategies developed by female performers; the feminist network; riot grrrl and the succession of international festivals it inspired under the name of Ladyfest.

Locating East Asia in Western Art Music Yayoi Uno Everett, Frederick Lau, 2024-08-06. The traditional musics of China, Japan and Korea have been an important source of inspiration for many Western composers. Some like Chou Wen chung and John Cage have moved beyond superficial borrowing of Eastern musical elements in earnest attempts to understand non Western principles of composition.

At the same time many Asian composers often trained in the West or in Western music traditions have been using Asian elements to create works of unique musical synthesis. As a result of such cultural interpenetrations the landscape of Western art music has been irreversibly altered. Locating East Asia in Western Art Music is a comparative study of Asian influenced Western composers and Western influenced Asian composers and the first sustained exploration of this cross cultural exchange. Bringing together work by music theorists, musicologists and ethnomusicologists this book explores how musical notions of East and West are constructed and utilized by composers and reevaluates the many ways East Asian composers have contributed to developments in twentieth century music. Composers discussed include John Cage, Toru Takemitsu, Chou Wen chung, Toshiro Mayuzumi, Isang Yun, Tan Dun, John Zorn and Henry Cowell. CONTRIBUTORS: Hugh De Ferranti, Yayoi Uno Everett, Judith Herd, Ellie Hisama, Eric Lai, Frederic Lau, Fredric Lieberman, Steven Nuss, Nancy Rao and Yu Siuwah.

Public Ethnomusicology, Education, Archives, & Commerce Svanibor Pettan, Jeff Titon, 2019-02-20. The seven ethnomusicologists who contributed to this volume discuss the role and impact of applied ethnomusicology in a variety of public and private sectors including the commercial music industry, archives and collections, public folklore programs and music education programs at public schools. Public Ethnomusicology: Education, Archives, and Commerce is the third of three paperback volumes derived from the original Oxford Handbook of Applied Ethnomusicology. The Handbook can be understood as an applied ethnomusicology project as a medium of getting to know the thoughts and experiences of global ethnomusicologists of enriching general knowledge and understanding about ethnomusicologies and applied ethnomusicologies in various parts of the world and of inspiring readers to put the accumulated knowledge understanding and skills into good use for the betterment of our world
