Muslim Britain Communities Under Pressure:

Muslim Britain Tahir Abbas, 2005 Pt 1 From Islam to British Muslims pt 2 Islamophobia identity politics and multiculturalism pt 3 Media representation gender and radical Islam pt 4 Temporal and spatial ethnic and religious identities

Muslims and Political Participation in Britain Timothy Peace, 2015-05-01 This new volume showcases the latest research into Muslim political participation both in terms of electoral politics and civil society initiatives Muslims play a prominent role in British political life yet what do we actually know about the involvement of British Muslims beyond the existence of a handful of Muslim MPs What is unique about political participation in Muslim communities All the major parties actively seek to court a Muslim electorate but does such a phenomenon exist Despite the impact that Muslims have had on election campaigns and their roles in various political institutions research on this topic remains scant Indeed much of the existing work was couched within the broader areas of the participation of ethnic minorities or the impact of race on electoral politics The chapters in this volume address this lacuna by highlighting different aspects of Muslim participation in British politics They investigate voting patterns and election campaigns civil society and grassroots political movements the engagement of young people and the participation of Muslims in formal political institutions Written in an accessible style this book will be of interest to students and scholars of political participation and religious studies British Muslim

Politics P. Akhtar, 2013-10-09 Although there has emerged a huge interest in the Muslim communities in Britain since 9 11 and 7 7 few academic studies have focused on the political processes within Muslim communities and the impacts these have on civic engagement This book examines the political biographies and religious identities of British Muslims of Pakistani descent Muslims in the Bulgarian and the British Press Desislava Cheshmedzhieva-Stoycheva, 2024-09-28 This book compares the ways in which the national media in two different countries construct frame and develop the image of the religious other in this case Muslims in all their variety Although it introduces concepts such as race and racism otherness Orientalism and Islamophobia which may be familiar to the majority of readers in this manuscript they serve the purpose of a comparative analysis which has not been done on the subject to date The manuscript analyzes the thematic distribution of the articles as well as the definitions metaphors and stereotypes used thus presenting a complete and diverse image of Muslims along with the similarities and differences in the thinking patterns employed by Bulgarians and British on the subject and expressed in the respective mainstream media In this respect the manuscript fills a void in the scholarly literature on the ways the media discourses in two very different countries present the image of a religious group Here we can even talk about the existing divide between East and West and the changing perception of the religious Other fostered by the general digitalization and free flow of information As English is an international language it undeniably makes access to information easier however there are not many culture specific studies presenting the current state of a problem or the analyses on that particular topic the image of Muslims in that international medium Therefore the manuscript aims at introducing English speaking scholars students media people and generally everyone interested in the topic to the Bulgarian way of seeing depicting and talking about Muslims As stated above the manuscript draws parallels between the language used by the Bulgarian and the British media thus providing a similar starting point as the majority of the potential readers are probably more familiar with the latter In addition scholars working extensively with other local cultures and or media and resorting to English as a medium for the popularization of their research can use the presented analytical frame to their specific analyses and contribute even further to the enrichment of the global data base on the topic

Political Muslims

Tahir Abbas,Sadek Hamid,2019-02-11 In the last few decades the media academics and the general public have put considerable focus on Muslim culture and politics around the world Specifically the rising population of young Muslims has generated concerns about religious radicalism Islamism and conflicts in multicultural societies However few studies have been devoted to how a new generation of Muslims is reshaping society in positive ways In Political Muslims Abbas and Hamid provide a new perspective on Muslim youth presenting them as agents of creative social change and as active participants in cultural and community organizations where resistance leads to negotiated change In a series of case studies that cross the globe contributors capture the experiences of being young and Muslim in ten countries the United States Canada Britain the Netherlands Switzerland Turkey Afghanistan Pakistan Kashmir and Indonesia They examine urban youth from various socioeconomic backgrounds addressing issues that range from hybrid identities and student activism to the strategic use of music and social media With diverse disciplinary and methodological approaches Political Muslims gives readers a nuanced and authentic understanding of the everyday social economic and political realities of young people
