Kingship and Sacrifice Valerio Valeri, 1985-06-15 Valeri presents an overview of Hawaiian religious culture in which hierarchies of social beings and their actions are mirrored by the cosmological hierarchy of the gods As the sacrifice is performed the worshipper is incorporated into the god of his class Thus he draws on divine power to sustain the social order of which his action is a part and in which his own place is determined by the degree of his resemblance to his god The key to Hawaiian society and a central focus for Valeri is the complex and encompassing sacrificial ritual that is the responsibility of the king for it displays in concrete actions all the concepts of pre Western Hawaiian society By interpreting and understanding this ritual cycle Valeri contends we can interpret all of Hawaiian religious culture Old and New Edward Everett Hale,1870 Includes College directory giving the name locality course of study faculty and number of students of 175 or more of the Principal collegiate institutions of the United States Boston Robert Bros 1872 74 Saltwater Sociality Katharina Schneider,2012 The inhabitants of Pororan Island a small group of saltwater people in Papua New Guinea are intensely interested in the movements of persons across the island and across the sea both in their everyday lives as fishing people and on ritual occasions From their observations of human movements they take their cues about the current state of social relations Based on detailed ethnography this study engages current Melanesian anthropological theory and argues that movements are the Pororans predominant mode of objectifying relations Movements on Pororan Island are to its inhabitants what roads are to mainlanders on the nearby larger island and what material objects and images are to others elsewhere in Melanesia
