Yuille,2012-12-06 The New Police Officer During the past twenty years the tasks required of police officers have expanded and changed with dramatic rapidity The traditional roles of the police had been those of law enforcement and the maintenance of public order As a consequence police officers were typically large bodied males selected for their physical abilities and trained to accept orders and enforce the law Over the past two decades however the industrialized nations have placed a variety of new demands on police officers To traditional law enforcement and public order tasks have been added social work mental health duties and community relations work For example domestic disputes violence between husbands and wives lovers relatives etc have increased in frequency and severity or at least there has been a dramatic increase in reporting the occurrence of domestic violence Our societies have no formal system to deal with domestic disputes and the responsibility to do so in most countries has fallen to the police In fact in some areas as many as 60% of calls for service to the police are related to domestic disputes

see the chapter in this text by Dutton As a result the police officer has had to become a skilled social worker able to intervene with sensitivity in domestic situations Alternatively in the case of West Germany the officer has had to learn to work cooperatively with social workers see the chapter by Steinhilper

Global Practices and Training in Applied Sport, Exercise, and Performance Psychology J. Gualberto Cremades, Lauren S. Tashman, 2016-05-20 Global Practices and Training in Applied Sport Exercise and Performance Psychology offers case analysis as a vehicle to address issues and experiences in the application of sport exercise and performance psychology SEPP and the supervision training of individuals to become professionals in the field. A follow up to Becoming a Sport Exercise and Performance Psychology Professional 2014, this book features a discussion of real world case examples which highlight various aspects of professional practice as well as supervision and training. Professionals from around the world including the United States and Canada, Europe, Asia, Africa, and Australia share diverse experiences providing a uniquely in depth global perspective. The case studies contained in the book were selected to provide insight into specific elements of applied practice and supervision training through a global lens as well as demonstrate the value of incorporating case analysis and reflection into one's training and continued professional development. Case analysis is an essential part of learning and instruction. Beyond educating the reader about theories and research on related topics in the field, case analysis allows for more complex levels of learning including analysis, synthesis, and evaluation of diverse scenarios. In Part I of this book, the cases focus on applied SEPP practice. Part II is comprised of cases that focus on training and supervision. This book is essential reading for graduate students and neophyte professionals in the field for whom it is critical to learn how to effectively apply knowledge to real world sport exercise and performance psychology scenarios. In addition, the book is a useful resource for seasoned and expert practitioners and supervisors who can use case analysis as a means of continuing their professional development.
