ECCWS 2018 17th European Conference on Cyber Warfare and Security V2 Audun Jøsang, 2018-06-21 Digital Storage in Consumer Electronics Thomas M. Coughlin, 2017-12-09 This book provides an introduction to digital storage for consumer electronics It discusses the various types of digital storage including emerging non volatile solid state storage technologies and their advantages and disadvantages It discusses the best practices for selecting integrating and using storage devices for various applications It explores the networking of devices into an overall organization that results in always available home storage combined with digital storage in the cloud to create an infrastructure to support emerging consumer applications and the Internet of Things It also looks at the role of digital storage devices in creating security and privacy in consumer products Frenemies Ken Auletta, 2018-06-05 An intimate and profound reckoning with the changes buffeting the 2 trillion global advertising and marketing business from the perspective of its most powerful players by the bestselling author of Googled Advertising and marketing touches on every corner of our lives and is the invisible fuel powering almost all media Complain about it though we might without it the world would be a darker place And of all the industries wracked by change in the digital age few have been turned on its head as dramatically as this one has We are a long way from the days of Don Draper as Mad Men is turned into Math Men and women though too few as an instinctual art is transformed into a science the old lions and their kingdoms are feeling real fear however bravely they might roar Frenemies is Ken Auletta s reckoning with an industry under existential assault He enters the rooms of the ad world s most important players some of them business partners some adversaries many frenemies a term whose ubiquitous use in this industry reveals the level of anxiety as former allies become competitors and accusations of kickbacks and corruption swirl We meet the old guard including Sir Martin Sorrell the legendary former head of WPP the world s largest ad agency holding company while others play nice with Facebook and Google he rants some say Lear like out on the heath There is Irwin Gotlieb maestro of the media agency GroupM the most powerful media agency but like all media agencies it is staring into the headlights as ad buying is more and more done by machine in the age of Oracle and IBM We see the world from the vantage of its new powers like Carolyn Everson Facebook s head of Sales and other brash and scrappy creatives who are driving change as millennials and others who disdain ads as an interruption employ technology to zap them We also peer into the future looking at what is replacing traditional advertising And throughout we follow the industry s peerless matchmaker Michael Kassan whose company MediaLink connects all these players together serving as the industry s foremost power broker a position which feasts on times of fear and change Frenemies is essential reading not simply because of what it says about this world but because of the potential consequences the survival of media as we know it depends on the money generated by advertising and marketing revenue that is in peril in the face of technological changes and the fraying trust between the industry s key players Junior Graphic Mavis Kitcher (Mrs), 2014-07-02 Beverage Consumption Habits

Language Development in the Digital Age Mila Vulchanova, Giosuè Baggio, Angelo Cangelosi, Linda Smith, 2017-10-18 The digital age is changing our children s lives and childhood dramatically New technologies transform the way people interact with each other the way stories are shared and distributed and the way reality is presented and perceived Parents experience that toddlers can handle tablets and apps with a level of sophistication the children s grandparents can only envy The question of how the ecology of the child affects the acquisition of competencies and skills has been approached from different angles in different disciplines In linguistics psychology and neuroscience the central question addressed concerns the specific role of exposure to language Two influential types of theory have been proposed On one view the capacity to learn language is hard wired in the human brain linguistic input is merely a trigger for language to develop On an alternative view language acquisition depends on the linguistic environment of the child and specifically on language input provided through child adult communication and interaction The latter view further specifies that factors in situated interaction are crucial for language learning to take place In the fields of information technology artificial intelligence and robotics a current theme is to create robots that develop as children do and to establish how embodiment and interaction support language learning in these machines In the field of human machine interaction research is investigating whether using a physical robot rather than a virtual agent or a computer based video has a positive effect on language development The Research Topic will address the following issues What are the methodological challenges faced by research on language acquisition in the digital age How should traditional theories and models of language acquisition be revised to account for the multimodal and multichannel nature of language learning in the digital age How should existing and future technologies be developed and transformed so as to be most beneficial for child language learning and cognition Can new technologies be tailored to support child growth and most importantly can they be designed in order to enhance specifically vulnerable children s language learning environment and opportunities What kind of learning mechanisms are involved How can artificial intelligence and robotics technologies as robot tutors support language development These questions and issues can only be addressed by means of an interdisciplinary approach that aims at developing new methods of data collection and analysis in cross sectional and longitudinal perspectives We welcome contributions addressing these questions from an interdisciplinary perspective both theoretically and empirically
