Medieval Wall Paintings In English And Welsh Churches:

Medieval Wall Paintings in English & Welsh Churches Roger Rosewell, 2008 Surveying the images and iconography that made the medieval church a riot of colour this book brings together many of the best surviving examples of medieval church wall paintings It uses new technologies to allow us to visualise these works as the artists first intended Rosewell's text accompanies the images Saint Christopher Wall Paintings in English and Welsh Churches, C.1250-c.1500

Eleanor Elizabeth Pridgeon, 2010 This thesis is a comprehensive reassessment of the role of Saint Christopher wall paintings in English and Welsh churches Although the study focuses primarily on parish churches where the majority of mural paintings survive it also considers cathedrals abbeys and other medieval buildings where such imagery is extant or documented Welsh churches are also examined where appropriate though there are only a few surviving Saint Christopher images in this geographical area The investigation spans the period from the emergence of Saint Christopher representations in illumination c 1250 to the beginning of the sixteenth century when wall painting depictions of the saint were at their zenith c 1500 for sake of convenience The thesis begins with an examination and assessment of universal image function and reception in medieval church and society This is a central issue to the study of churches and it is therefore necessary to dedicate a whole chapter to the subject Through the examination of individual paintings and documents relating to specific churches the thesis then goes on to focus on three main themes related to Saint Christopher and his cult First it considers the role of Saint Christopher wall paintings and other types of images where appropriate secondly the location of Saint Christopher murals within church buildings and thirdly the different methods of patronage associated with the wall paintings The survey also establishes a long overdue and revised chronology of the entire corpus of Saint Christopher wall paintings based on an examination of architectural documentary and visual evidence and on comparisons with other types of media from England and the Continent such as sculpture illumination and woodcuts Most murals can be dated to within the nearest quarter or third of a century and to the nearest century if the date of execution is uncertain Medieval Wall Paintings

Roger Rosewell, 2014-02-10 The medieval wall paintings that remain in English churches are for the most part shadows of their former selves the rare fragments of this beautiful art to have survived not only the Reformation but also successive waves of iconoclastic zeal and unsympathetic restoration The whitewashed walls of most parish churches belie the riot of colour and decoration that once adorned them but the remnants of paintings tucked into corners or rescued from later layers of paint help us to understand the role of art in medieval religion Roger Rosewell here offers a guide to the role played by medieval wall paintings as religious didactic and commemorative works of art telling the stories of those who created them and those who used them on a daily basis He also compares and contrasts religious and domestic wall paintings using beautiful colour photography throughout Studies in Late Medieval Wall Paintings, Manuscript Illuminations, and Texts

The church as sacred space in Middle English literature and culture Laura Varnam, 2018-01-11 This book presents an exciting new approach to the medieval church by examining the role of literary texts visual decorations ritual performance and lived experience in the production of sanctity The meaning of the church was intensely debated in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries This book explores what was at stake not only for the church's sanctity but for the identity of the parish community as a result Focusing on pastoral material used to teach the laity it shows how the church's status as a sacred space at the heart of the congregation was dangerously but profitably dependent on lay practice The sacred and profane were inextricably linked and paradoxically the church is shown to thrive on the sacrilegious challenge of lay misbehaviour and sin The Grove Encyclopedia of Medieval Art and Architecture Colum Hourihane, 2012 This volume offers unparalleled coverage of all aspects of art and architecture from medieval Western Europe from the 6th century to the early 16th century Drawing upon the expansive scholarship in the celebrated Grove Dictionary of Art and adding hundreds of new entries it offers students researchers and the general public a reliable up to date and convenient resource covering this field of major importance in the development of Western history and international art and architecture

Modern Northern and Central Europe Krista Kodres, Anu Mänd, 2014-07-18 This multidisciplinary collection of essays explores the functions meanings and use of images and objects in various late Medieval and Early Modern social practices which were linked by their ritual character The book approaches ritual as an action which is discussed under the general umbrella term performative practice and is characterised by a synthesis between the repetitive and the extraordinary that carries an intense symbolic meaning and is emotionally charged Images spaces and rituals were closely interconnected in both the religious and the secular spheres and played a relevant role in the symbolic communication of the time The essays in this volume are devoted to a complex study of these phenomena in Northern and Central Europe including regions which due to linguistic or cultural barriers have thus far received comparatively little attention in Anglo American scholarship including Scandinavia Poland and the Baltic states

Contesting Orthodoxies in the History of Christianity Ellie Gebarowski Bagley, Ellie Gebarowski-Shafer, Ashley Null, Alec Ryrie, 2021 Examines the pursuit of orthodoxy and its consequences for the history of Christianity Christianity is a hugely diverse and quarrelsome family of faiths but most Christians have nevertheless set great store by orthodoxy literally right opinion even if they cannot agree what that orthodoxy should be The notion that there is a catholic or universal Christian faith that which according to the famous fifth century formula has been believed everywhere at all times and by all people is itself an act of faith to reconcile it with the historical fact of persistent division and plurality requires a constant effort It also requires a variety of strategies from confrontation and exclusion through deliberate choices as to what is forgotten or ignored to creative or even indulgent inclusion In this volume seventeen leading historians of Christianity ask how the ideal of unity has clashed negotiated reconciled or coexisted with the historical reality of diversity in a range of historical settings from the early Church through the Reformation era to the twentieth and twenty first centuries These essays hold the huge variety of the Christian experience together with the ideal of orthodoxy which Christians have never yet fully attained but for which they have always striven and they trace some of the consequences of the pursuit of that ideal for the history of Christianity

Experiences of Charity, 1250-1650 Anne M. Scott, 2016-03-09 For a number of years scholars who are concerned with issues of poverty and the poor have turned away from the study of charity and poor relief in order to search for a view of the life of the poor from the point of view of the poor themselves Great studies have been conducted using a variety of records resulting in seminal works that have enriched our understanding of pauper experiences and the influence and impact of poverty on societies If we return our gaze to charity with the benefit of those studies questions approaches sources and findings what might we see differently about how charity was experienced as a concept and in practice at both community and personal levels In this collection contributors explore the experience of charity towards the poor considering it in spiritual intellectual emotional personal social cultural and material terms The approach is a comparative one across different time periods nations and faiths Contributors pay particular attention to the way faith inflected charity in the different national environments of England and France as Catholicism and Calvinism became outlawed and or minority faith positions in these respective nations They ask how different faith and beliefs defined or shaped the act of charity and explore whether these changed over time even within one faith The sources used to answer such questions go beyond the textual as contributors analyse a range of additional sources that include the visual aural and material

Westminster Part I: The Art, Architecture and Archaeology of the Royal Abbey Warwick Rodwell, Tim Tatton-Brown, 2020-04-27

The British Archaeological Association's 2013 conference was devoted to the study of Westminster Abbey and the Palace of Westminster. It also embraced Westminster School which was founded at the Reformation in the Abbey precinct. Collectively these institutions occupy a remarkable assemblage of medieval and later buildings most of which are well documented. Although the Association had held a conference at Westminster in 1902 this was the first time that the internationally important complex of historic buildings was examined holistically and the papers published here cover a wide range of subject matter. Westminster came into existence in the later Anglo Saxon period and by the mid 11th century when Edward the Confessor's great new abbey was built it was a major royal centre two miles south west of the City of London. Within a century or so it had become the principal seat of government in England and this series of twenty eight papers covers new research on the topography buildings art history architecture and archaeology of Westminster's two great establishments Abbey and Palace. Part I begins with studies of the topography of the area an account of its Roman period finds and an historiographical overview of the archaeology of the Abbey. Edward the Confessor's enigmatic church plan is discussed and the evidence for later Romanesque structures is assembled for the first time. Five papers examine aspects of Henry III's vast new Abbey church and its decoration. A further four cover aspects of the later medieval period coronation and Sir George Gilbert Scott's impact as the Abbey's greatest Surveyor of the Fabric. A pair of papers examines the development of the northern precinct of the Abbey around St Margaret's Church and the remarkable buildings of Westminster School created within the remains of the monastery in the 17th and 18th centuries. Part II part deals with the Palace of Westminster and its wider topography between the late 11th century and the devastating fire of 1834 that largely destroyed the medieval palace. William Rufus's enormous hall and its famous roofs are completely reassessed and comparisons discussed between this structure and the great hall at Caen. Other essays reconsider Henry III's palace St Stephen's chapel the king's great chamber the Painted Chamber and the enigmatic Jewel Tower. The final papers examine the meeting places of Parliament and the living accommodation of the MPs who attended it the topography of the Palace between the Reformation and the fire of 1834 and the building of the New Palace which is better known today as the Houses of Parliament.
