Nothing stays hidden.
Secrets are always found out,
and the world is unforgiving.

Musicians in the 16th century had a vastly different understanding of the structure and performance of music than today's performers In order to transform inexpressively notated music into passionate declamation Renaissance singers treated scores freely and it was expected that each would personalize the music through various modifications which included ornamentation Their role was one of musical re creation rather than of simple interpretation the score represented a blueprint not a master plan upon which they as performer built the music As is now commonly recognized this flexible approach to scores changed over the centuries the notation on the page itself became an ostensible musical Urtext and performers began following it much more closely their sole purpose being to reproduce what was thought to be the composer's intentions Yet in recent years scholars and performers are once again freeing themselves from the written page but the tools for doing so have long been out of reach With Passionate Voice gives these tools to modern singers of Renaissance music enabling them to learn and master the art of re creative singing Providing a much needed historically informed perspective author Robert Toft discusses the music of composers ranging from Marchetto Cara to John Dowland in the context of late Renaissance rhetoric modal theory and its antecedents in language and performance traditions Focusing on period practice in England and Italy the two countries which produced the music of greatest interest to today's performers Toft reconstructs the style of sung delivery through contemporary treatises on music rhetoric and oratory Toft remains faithful to the ways these principles were explained in the period and thus breathes new life into this vital art form With Passionate Voice is sure to be essential for vocalists teachers and coaches of early music repertoire American Oratory, Or, Selections from the Speeches of Eminent Americans, 1775-1826 ,1836 American Oratory ,1836 Oratory of the South Edwin Du Bois Shurter,1908 Ascent of the Pilgrim Revelation Insight Publishing Company,2009 Some eminent Victorians: Personal recollections in the world of art and letters J.
