Oriental Interiors John Potvin, 2015-12-17 Since the publication of Edward Said's groundbreaking work Orientalism 35 years ago numerous studies have explored the West's fraught and enduring fascination with the so-called Orient. Focusing their critical attention on the literary and pictorial arts, these studies have to date largely neglected the world of interior design. Oriental Interiors is the first book to fully explore the formation and perception of eastern-inspired interiors from an orientalist perspective. Orientalist spaces in the West have taken numerous forms since the 18th century to the present day, and the fifteen chapters in this collection reflect that diversity, dealing with subjects as varied and engaging as harems, Turkish baths, on RMS Titanic, Parisian bachelor quarters, potted palms, and contemporary yoga studios. It explores how furnishings, surface treatments, ornament, and music, for example, are deployed to enhance the exoticism and pleasures of oriental spaces, looking across a range of international locations. Organized into three parts, each introduced by the editor, the essays are grouped by theme to highlight critical paths into the intersections between orientalist studies, spatial theory, design studies, visual culture, and gender studies, making this essential reading for students and researchers alike.

Designing the French Interior
Anca I. Lasc, Georgina Downey, Mark Taylor, 2015-10-22 Designing the French Interior traces France's central role in the development of the modern domestic interior from the pre-revolutionary period to the 1970s and addresses the importance of various media including drawings, prints, pattern books, illustrated magazines, department store catalogs, photographs, guidebooks, and films in representing and promoting French interior design to a wider audience. Contributors to this original volume identify and historicize the singularity of the modern French domestic interior as a generator of reproducible images, a site for display of both highly crafted and mass-produced objects, and the direct result of widely circulated imagery in its own right. This important volume enables an invaluable new understanding of the relationship between architecture, interior spaces material cultures mass media and modernity Design and Agency John Potvin, Marie-Ève Marchand, 2020-05-14

Design and Agency brings together leading international design scholars and practitioners to address the concept of agency in relation to objects organisations and people The authors set out to expand the scope of design history and practice avoiding the heroic narratives of a typical modernist approach They consider both how the agents of design construct and express their identities and subjectivities through practice while also investigating the distinctive contribution of design in the construction of individual identity and subjectivity Individual chapters explore notions of agency in a range of design disciplines and historical periods including the agency of women in effecting changes to the design of offices and working practices the role of Jeffrey Lindsay and Buckminster Fuller in developing the design of a geodesic dome Le Corbusier's Casa Curutchet a re consideration of the gendered historiography of the Jugendstil movement and Bruce Mau's design exhibitions Taken together the essays in Design and Agency provide a much needed response to the traditional texts which dominate design history With a broad chronological span from 1900 to the present and an equally broad understanding of the term design it expands how we view the discipline and shows how design itself can be an agent for social cultural and economic change contains 300 biographical entries of people who have significantly impacted design. They are the people historical and contemporary that students and practitioners should know. Coverage starts in the late Renaissance with a focus on the twentieth and twenty-first centuries. The book has five sections with the entries alphabetical in each so it can serve as a history textbook and a reference guide. The seventeenth and eighteenth-century section covers figures from Thomas Chippendale to Horace Walpole. The nineteenth-century section includes William Morris and Candace Wheeler. The early twentieth-century section presents modernism's design heroes including Marcel Breuer, Eileen Gray, and Gilbert Rohde. The post-World War II designers range from Madeleine Castaing to Raymond Loewy. The final contemporary section includes Ron Arad and the Bouroullec brothers. These are the canonical figures who belong to any design history. The book also contains less well-known figures who deserve attention such as Betty Joel, the British art deco furniture designer; Paul Veysey, the Frenchman active in China in the 1930s; and more recently, Lanzavecchia Wai, the Italian-Singaporean duo whose work ranges from health care to helicopters. Global in its coverage, the book is richly illustrated with over 600 black and white and color photographs.

Reframing Japonisme Elizabeth Emery, 2020-09-17 Japonisme, the nineteenth-century fascination for Japanese art, has generated an enormous body of scholarship since the beginning of the twenty-first century, but most of it neglects the women who acquired objects from the Far East and sold them to clients or displayed them in their homes before bequeathing them to museums. The stories of women shopkeepers, collectors, and artists rarely appear in memoirs left by those associated with the Japonisme movement. This volume brings to light the culturally important yet largely forgotten activities of women such as Clémence d'Ennery (1823-1898) who began collecting Japanese and Chinese chimeras in the 1840s, built and decorated a house for them in the 1870s, and bequeathed the Musée d'Ennery to the state as a free public museum in 1893. A friend of the Goncourt brothers and a fifty-year patron of Parisian dealers of Asian art, d'Ennery's struggles to gain recognition as a collector and curator serve as a lens through which to examine the collecting and display practices of other women of her day. Travelers to Japan such as the Duchesse de Persigny, Isabella Stewart Gardner, and Laure Durand Fardel returned with souvenirs that they shared with friends and family. Salon hostesses including Juliette Adam, Louise Cahen d'Anvers, Princesse Mathilde, and Marguerite Charpentier provided venues for the discussion and examination of Japanese art objects as did well-known art dealers Madame Desoye, Madame Malinet, Madame Hatty, and Madame Langweil. Writers, actresses, and artists Judith Gautier, Therese Bentzon, Sarah Bernhardt, and Mary Cassatt, to name just a few, took inspiration from the Japanese material in circulation to create their own unique works of art. Largely absent from the history of Japonisme, these women and many others actively collected Japanese art, interacted with auction houses and art dealers, and formed collections now at the heart of museums such as the Louvre, the Musée Guimet, the Musée Cernuschi, the Musée Unterlinden, and the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Ceramics in the Victorian Era Rachel Gotlieb, 2023-06-29 This book broadens the discussion of pottery and china in the Victorian era by situating them in the national imperial design reform and domestic debates between 1840 and 1890 Largely ignored in recent scholarship Ceramics in the Victorian Era Meanings and Metaphors in Painting and Literature argues that the signification of a pot a jug or a tableware pattern can be more fully discerned in written and painted representations Across five case studies the book explores a rhetoric and set of conventions that developed within the representation of ceramics emerging in the late 18th century and continuing in the Victorian period Each case study begins with a textual passage exemplifying the outlined theme and closes with an object analysis to demonstrate how the fusing of text image and object are critical to attaining the period eye in order to better understand the metaphorical meanings of ceramics Essential reading not only for ceramics scholars but also those of material culture the book mines the rich and diverse archive of Victorian painting and literature from the avant garde to the sentimental from the well known to the more obscure to shed light on the at once complex and simple implications of ceramics agencies at this time
