Orientalism And Modernism The Legacy Of China In Pound And Williams:

Orientalism and Modernism Zhaoming Qian, 1995 Chinese culture held a well known fascination for modernist poets like Ezra Pound and William Carlos Williams What is less known but is made fully clear by Zhaoming Qian is the degree to which oriental culture made these poets the modernists they became This ambitious and illuminating study shows that Orientalism no less than French symbolism and Italian culture is a constitutive element of Modernism Consulting rare and unpublished materials Qian traces Pound's and Williams's remarkable dialogues with the great Chinese poets Qu Yuan Li Bo Wang Wei and Bo Juyi between 1913 and 1923 His investigation reveals that these exchanges contributed more than topical and thematic ideas to the Americans work and suggests that their progressively modernist style is directly linked to a steadily growing contact and affinity for similar Chinese styles He demonstrates for example how such influences as the ethics of pictorial representation the style of ellipsis allusion and juxtaposition and the Taoist Zen Buddhist notion of nonbeing being made their way into Pound's pre-Fenollosan Chinese adaptations Cathay Lustra and the Early Cantos as well as Williams's Sour Grapes and Spring and All Developing a new interpretation of important work by Pound and Williams Orientalism and Modernism fills a significant gap in accounts of American Modernism which can be seen here for the first time in its truly multicultural character

Convergence of East-West Poetics Zhanghai Yang, 2024-07-23 The present book examines William Carlos Williams's negotiation with cultural modes and systems of the Chinese landscape tradition in his landscape writing Focusing on Williams's landscape modes of landscape with out infused emotions the book builds a linkage between their interactions with Chinese landscape aesthetics and shows how these conversations helped shape Williams's cross cultural landscape poetics The exploration of Williams's experiment with the Chinese serene interplay of self and landscape the interfusion of scene and emotion an idea of seeing from the perspective of Wang Guowei's theory of jingjie and the poetic space of frustration and completion in the context of space and human geography expand the understanding of a cross cultural landscape tradition developed by Williams through bringing into focus the convergence of East West poetics The Modernist Response to Chinese Art Zhaoming Qian,2003 The Modernist Response to Chinese Art is a work of both erudition and sympathy that reveals the root of modernist poets otherwise baffling interest in and use of Chinese art Most impressive perhaps is the depth of their embrace of it as Qian has so convincingly documented Patricia C Williams Transnationalism and Translation in Modern Chinese, English, French and Japanese Literatures Ryan Johnson,2020-12-15 The theory of literary worlds has become increasingly important in comparative and world literatures But how are the often contradictory elements of Eastern and Western literatures to cohere in the new worlds such contact creates Drawing on the latest work in philosophical logic and analytic Asian philosophy this monograph proposes a new model of literary worlds that is best suited to comparative literature dealing with Western and East Asian traditions Unlike much discussion of world literature anchored in North American traditions featured here is the transnational work of artists philosophers and poets writing in English French Japanese and Mandarin in the twentieth century Rather than imposing sharp borders this book suggests that vague boundaries link Eastern and Western literary works and traditions and that degrees of distance can better help us to see the multiple dimensions that both distinguish and join together literary worlds East and West As such it enables us to grasp not only how East Asian and Western writers translate one another s works into their own languages and traditions but also how modern writers East and West modify their own traditions in order to make them fit in the new constellation of literary worlds brought about by the complex flow of literary information across twentieth century Eurasia Geographies of Modernism Peter Brooker,Andrew Thacker,2007-05-07 One of the most pivotal developments in contemporary literary and cultural studies is the investigation of space and geography a trend which is proving particularly important for modernist studies This volume explores the interface between modernism and geography in a range of writers texts and artists across the twentieth century Cross disciplinary essays test and extend a variety of methodological approaches and reveal the reach of this topic into every corner of modernist scholarship From Imagist poetry and the Orient to teashops and modernism in London or from mapping and belonging in James Joyce or Joseph Conrad to the space of new media artists this remarkable volume offers fresh invigorating research that ranges across the field of modernism It also serves to identify the many exciting new directions that future studies may take With groundbreaking essays from an international team of highly regarded scholars Geographies of Modernism is an important step forward in literary and cultural studies Modernism Revisited ,2015-06-29 Offering essays from some of the leading academic writers and younger scholars in the field of American studies from both the United States and Europe this volume constitutes a rich and varied reconsideration of Modernist American poetry Its contributions fall into two general categories new and original discussions of many of the principal figures of the movement Frost Pound Eliot Williams Cummings and Stevens and reflections on the phenomenon of Modernism within a broader cultural context the influence of Haiku parallels and connections with Surrealism responses to the Modernist accomplishment by later American poets Because of its mixture of European and American perspectives Modernism Revisited will be of vital interest to students and scholars of American literature and Modernism in general and of twentieth century comparative literature and art

Ezra Pound's Chinese Friends Zhaoming Qian,2008-02-21 No literary figure of the past century in America or perhaps in any other Western country is comparable to Ezra Pound in the scope and depth of his exchange with China To this day scholars and students still find it puzzling that this influential poet spent a lifetime incorporating Chinese language literature history and philosophy into Anglo American modernism How well did Pound know Chinese Was he guided exclusively by eighteenth to nineteenth century orientalists in his various Chinese projects Did he seek guidance from Chinese peers Those who have written about Pound and China have failed to address this fundamental question No one could do so just a few years ago when the letters Pound wrote to his Chinese friends were sealed or had not been found This book brings together 162 revealing letters between Pound and nine Chinese intellectuals eighty five of them newly opened up and none previously printed Accompanied by editorial introductions and notes these selected letters make available for the first time the forgotten stories of Pound and his Chinese friends They illuminate a dimension in Pound s career that has been neglected his dynamic interaction with people from China over a span of forty five years from 1914 until 1959 This selection will also be a documentary record of a leading modernist s unparalleled efforts to pursue what he saw as the best of China including both his stumbles and his triumphs
