Crash Course in Marketing for Libraries Susan W. Alman, Sara Gillespie Swanson, 2014-12-02 Explains effective marketing strategies and identifies the tools needed to boost the visibility and increase the use of your library in the community. Marketing a library's programs or services takes more than sending out a flyer or posting an announcement on the website. Effective marketing is important for every library, as it can lead to a significant increase in library use, which is a major factor in budget justification. Crash Course in Marketing for Libraries, Second Edition will help you develop a strategic direction for your organization and identify methods for employing your best marketing and public relations strategies. Each chapter of this second edition has been updated and expanded comprehensively, addressing the planning, implementation, and evaluation stages of the marketing and public relations process in libraries. The rise of social media as a powerful marketing tool is discussed in particular detail. The authors cover topics such as planning, promoting through the use of existing media, or advertising and assessing the project. The book's appendixes provide examples of marketing plans and projects, as well as other helpful marketing resources.

Selling the Sacred Mara Einstein, Sarah McFarland Taylor, 2024-03-01 There's religion in my marketing. There's marketing in my religion. Selling the Sacred explores the religious, cultural, and media implications of a two-sided phenomenon.

marketing religion as a product and marketing products as religion What do various forms of religion marketing collaboration look like in the twenty first century and what does this tell us about American culture and society Social and technological changes rapidly and continuously reframe religious and marketing landscapes Crossfit is a cult Televangelists use psychographics and data marketing QAnon is a religion and big business These are some of the examples highlighted in this collection which engages themes related to capitalist narratives issues related to gender and race and the intersection of religion politics and marketing among other key issues The innovative contributors examine the phenomenon of selling the sacred providing a better understanding of how marketing tactics married with religious content influence our thinking and everyday lives These scholars bring to light how political economic and ideological agendas infuse the construction and presentation of the sacred via more traditional religious institutions or consumer product marketing By examining religion and marketing broadly this book offers engaging tools to recognize and unpack what gets sold as sacred what's at stake and the consequences A go to resource for those working in marketing studies religious studies and media studies Selling the Sacred is also a must read for religious and marketing professionals

Snapchat Viktoria Schoja, 2016-03-14 Snapchat is a photo messaging application which was developed in 2011 by Evan Spiegel and Bobby Murphy It is a new way to take pictures or video adding text or drawings over a mobile phone and send them to friends or family with specifications on how long the photo will be available for viewing User can set a time of 1 to 10 seconds for the viewing The timer starts to count down the predefined seconds when the recipient opens the message After the time is up the picture is deleted from the device and cannot be shown to the user anymore Once the user downloads the app on his phone it is essential to register with username and set a password Subsequently the app access the contact list on users phone to load friends Additionally users can add other contacts beyond the existing one manually Snapchat is a new way of sharing moments with friends on iPhone and Android The company compares its product with a phone call where a record of the communication persists however the actual content of the communication does not Even though Snapchat launched many products there is one key feature that they all share deletion The app's mascot which is also used as logo is called Ghostface Chillah a name Brown derived from Ghostface Killah of the hip hop group Wu Tang Clan Snapchat Inc is a privately held venture capital backed company headquartered in Venice California USA The application was first launched in July 2011 as a result of Evan Spiegel's projects at Stanford University under the name Picaboo However the idea of disappearing pictures did not convince other project participants In July 2011 Picaboo was renamed and re launched into Snapchat The former team Evan Spiegel Reggie Brown and Bobby Murphy focused on usability and technical aspects rather than branding efforts at the beginning in order to reach as many user as possible
