Diachronic Studies in Romance Linguistics Mario Saltarelli, Dieter Wanner, 2010-10-06. No detailed description available for Diachronic Studies in Romance Linguistics. Vowel Prosthesis in Romance Rodney Sampson, 2009-10-29. This book presents for the first time an in-depth historical account of vowel prosthesis in the Romance languages. Vowel prosthesis is a change which involves the appearance of a non-etymological vowel at the beginning of a word; a familiar example is the initial e which appears in the development of Latin sperare to Spanish esperar and French espérer to hope. Despite its widespread incidence in the Romance languages it has remained poorly studied. In his wide-ranging comparative coverage Professor Sampson identifies three main categories of vowel prosthesis that have occurred and explores in detail their historical trajectory and the relationship between them. The presentation draws freely throughout on the rich philological materials available from Romance and brings to light various unexpected changes in the productive use of prosthesis through time. For example in French and Italian which is Tuscan based one category of prosthesis became well established in the early Middle Ages only to lose productivity and subsequently become moribund. With its extensive use of empirical data and findings from theoretical linguistics the book offers a thorough and revealing account of a fascinating chapter in the phonological history of Romance. Segmental and prosodic issues in Romance phonology Pilar Prieto, Joan Mascaró, Maria-Josep Solé, 2007-04-06. This volume is a collection of cutting-edge research papers written by well-known researchers in the field of Romance phonetics and phonology. An important goal of this book is to bridge the gap between traditional Romance linguistics with its long and rich tradition in data collection, cross-language comparison and phonetic variation and laboratory phonology work. The book is organized around three main themes: segmental processes, prosody and the acquisition of segments and prosody. The various articles provide new empirical data on production, perception, sound change, first and second language learning, rhythm and intonation, presenting a state-of-the-art overview of research in laboratory phonology centred on Romance languages. The Romance data are used to test the predictions of a number of theoretical frameworks such as gestural phonology, exemplar models, generative phonology and optimality theory. The book will constitute a useful companion volume for phoneticians, phonologists and researchers investigating sound structure in Romance languages and will serve to generate further interest in laboratory phonology.
