Social and Dialogic Thinking and Learning in Special Education Karen A. Erickson,Charna D'Ardenne,Nitasha M. Clark,David A. Kopenhagen,George W. Noblit,2021-12-28 Drawing on a three year post critical ethnography this volume counters deficit based notions of disability to present a new social and dialogic theory of thinking and learning for students with significant support needs Dismantling ideas around ableism disableism Social and Dialogic Thinking and Learning offers a uniquely theoretical and conceptual contribution to special education and capability research Illustrating how students exhibit varied practical social and creative abilities possess agency and perform identity chapters present a challenge to the restrictive ways in which disability is constructed through prescriptive forms of teacher student interaction and instruction The text ultimately offers a powerful re imagining of how educators and researchers can perceive observe and respond to students beyond current institutional and cultural norms This text will benefit researchers academics and educators with an interest in inclusion and special educational needs disability studies and the theories of learning more broadly Those specifically interested in educational psychology and the study of severe profound and multiple learning difficulties will also benefit from this book Current Advances in Semantic Theory Maxim I. Stamenov,1991-01-01 This volume contains selected contributions to the interdisciplinary symposium on Models of Meaning held in Varna September 25 28 1988 under the auspices of the Institute of the Bulgarian Language of the Bulgarian Academy of Sciences The aim of the meeting was to broaden the horizons of meaning research and the modeling of linguistic semantics with contributions centering on the appropriate modeling of lexical syntactic and textual semantic representations The papers challenge some basic notions of semantics and reveal two main avenues of development in contemporary investigations One is toward broadening the scope of investigativeness the second is toward a greater domain specificity as expressed in a greater sensitivity to pragmatics and meta pragmatic concerns
