Ovid Iii Metamorphoses S I Viii Loeb Classical Library No 4:

In the Wake of Medea Juliette Cherbuliez, 2020-08-04 In the Wake of Medea examines the violence of seventeenth century French political dramas French tragedy has traditionally been taken to be a passionless cerebral genre that refused all forms of violence This book explores the rhetorical literary and performance strategies through which violence persists contextualizing it in a longer literary and philosophical history from Ovid to Pasolini The mythological figure of Medea foreigner who massacres her brother murders kings burns down Corinth and kills her own children exemplifies the persistence of violence in literature and art A refugee who is welcomed yet feared who confirms the social while threatening its integrity Medea offers an alternative to western philosophy's ethical paradigm of Antigone The Medean presence Cherbuliez shows offers a model of radically persistent and disruptive outsidership both for classical theater and for its wake in literary theory In the Wake of Medea explores a range of artistic strategies integrating violence into drama from rhetorical devices like ekphrasis to dramaturgical mechanisms like machinery all of which involve temporal disruption The full range of this Medean presence is explored in treatments of the character Medea and in works figuratively invoking a Medean presence from the well known tragedies of Racine and Corneille through a range of other neoclassical political theater including spectacular machine plays Neo Stoic parables didactic Christian theater In the Wake of Medea recognizes the violence within these tragedies to explain why violence remains so integral to literature and arts today Andrew Marvell A. D. Cousins, 2016-03-02 This monograph studies how across the Folio of 1681 Marvell's poems engage not merely with different kinds of loss and aspiration but with experiences of both that were in mid seventeenth century England disturbingly new and unfamiliar It particularly examines Marvell's preoccupation with the search for home and with redefining the homeland in times of civil upheaval In doing so it traces his progression from being a poet who plays sophisticatedly with received myth to being one who is a national mythmaker in rivalry with his poetic contemporaries such as Waller and Davenant Although focusing primarily on poems in the Folio of 1681 this book considers those poems in relation to others from the Marvell canon including the Latin poems and the satires from the reign of Charles II It closely considers them as well in relation to verse by poets from the classical past and the European especially English present Dürer's Knots Susan Dackerman, 2024-09-10 An important new examination of Islamic themes in the art of Albrecht Dürer Albrecht Dürer's depictions of Muslim figures and subjects are considered by many to be among his most perplexing images This confusion arises from the assumption that the artist and his northern European contemporaries regarded the Muslim Levant as an exotic faraway land inhabited by hostile adversaries not a region of neighboring empires affiliated through political and mercantile networks Susan Dackerman casts Dürer's art in an entirely new light focusing on prints that portray cooperation between the Muslim and Christian worlds rather than conflict and war enabling us to better understand early modern Europe through its visual culture In this beautifully illustrated book Dackerman provides new readings of three of the artist's most enigmatic print projects Sea Monster Knots and Landscape with Cannon situating them within historical contexts that reflect productive collaborations between Christendom and Islam from the artistic and commercial to the ideological and political. Dackerman notes how Gutenberg's development of printing shares an inextricable relationship to the 1453 Ottoman siege of Constantinople. While Gutenberg's workshop produced a call to crusade and other publications antagonistic to the Muslim East, Derer's prints show instead emphasize instances of affiliation between Christendom and Islam. A breathtaking work of scholarship, Derer's Knots shows how the artist's prints of Muslim subjects give expression to the interconnectedness of Christian Europe and the Islamic East. The Changing Face of Arthurian Romance International Arthurian Society. British Branch, 1986. These essays on Arthurian prose romances published as a tribute to Cedric E. Pickford reflect their development and the reshaping of the romances in response to changing taste and fashion from the death of Chrétien de Troyes to the end of the medieval period in England. Topics include the question of religious influences, the transition of Arthurian material to foreign contexts, and the fortunes of the prose romance in England, focusing on the Prose Merlin and Malory. The contributors are ELSPETH KENNEDY, RENÉE L. CURTIS, FANNI BOGDANOW, JANE H. M. TAYLOR, DAVID BLAMIRE, CERIDWEN LLOYD MORGAN, CAROL M. MEALE, KAREN STERN, DEREK BREWER, FAITH LYONS, ROGER MIDDLETON.

The Poetics and Politics of Youth in Milton's England Blaine Greteman, 2013-08-19. As the notion of government by consent took hold in early modern England, many authors used childhood and maturity to address contentious questions of political representation about who has a voice and who can speak on his or her own behalf. For John Milton, Ben Jonson, William Prynne, Thomas Hobbes, and others, the period between infancy and adulthood became a site of intense scrutiny, especially as they examined the role of a literary education in turning children into political actors. Drawing on new archival evidence, Blaine Greteman argues that coming of age in the seventeenth century was a uniquely political act. His study makes a compelling case for understanding childhood as a decisive factor in debates over consent, autonomy, and political voice, and will offer graduate students and scholars a new perspective on the emergence of apolitical children's literature in the eighteenth century. Of Paradise and Light Donald R. Dickson, Holly Faith Nelson, 2004. This collection examines intertextual intersections in the works of Henry Vaughan and John Milton and considers their aesthetic, philosophical, or political implications. The theoretical pluralism of the volume reveals the variety and complexity of textual relations in the words of these early modern authors. Some of the essays focus on the author's conscious creation of intertext; others explore the reader's negotiation of books within books, while still others examine the linguistic effect of textual intersections. The essays not only consider material borrowing but also explore the absorption of concepts or formal structures from antecedent texts. The volume not only adds to the debate on Milton's iteration, duplication, and renovation of precursor texts but represents the first collection of original essays on the poetry and prose of Henry Vaughan, essays authored by experts in the field.
