Prevention of Maladjustment to Life Course Transitions Moshe Israelashvili, 2023-06-01 This book provides a comprehensive and updated review of the concepts models and interventions related to the process of adjustment to life course transitions In times of transition an individual is exposed to experiences that require them to assume new roles and exhibit updated behaviors Regardless of the characteristics of these transitions exposure to normative trajectories imposes on the person an intensive engagement in a process of re adjustment Sometimes this demand is beyond the scope of one's ability motivation or comprehension Hence some people might ineffectively perceive and or react to the change and end up feeling unable to handle the change and inclined to escape the situation A preventive intervention that either reduces the impact of possible risk factors or fosters possible protective factors would support the people in managing the transition While the importance of prevention of maladjustment is repeatedly mentioned in the literature this is the first known book on how to prevent maladjustment It examines how the sense of transition emerges what adjustment means the models that elaborate on how people manage in times of transition what the antecedents of maladjustment are and especially how maladjustment could be prevented Out of these discussions a new model The Transitional Stress and Adjustment TSA Model is suggested as a grand framework for paving a way forward to better prevent people's maladjustment to life course transitions Prevention of Maladjustment to Life Course Transitions is a much needed cornerstone in the future development within the prevention science framework This book has interdisciplinary appeal for researchers practitioners and graduate students in psychology sociology public health social work criminology medicine health sciences public policy economics and education who consider prevention an important vehicle of intervention to promote health and wellbeing Its focus on the topic of adjustment also would be of special interest to those who explore child and youth development

Caring and Competent Caregivers Robert Moroney, 1998 Chronic health conditions are the leading cause of illness disability and death in the United States today affecting nearly one hundred million citizens These conditions cost the economy more than 470 billion a year in direct medical costs and more than 230 billion in lost productivity While Americans pride themselves on living in a caring country society as a whole has not fully prepared for the many challenges presented by chronic illness This timely book illustrates the caregiving needs to be faced in the next century Written by individuals associated with the National Quality Caregiving Coalition NQCC of the Rosalynn Carter Institute Caring and Competent Caregivers is a foundation book for use by academicians conducting professional training programs diverse health care and social service providers on the front lines providing assistance to others and students entering the field Incorporating philosophy social science research and impressionistic evidence this book provides a basis for education and practice that is both inspirational and practical

Exploring New Horizons in Career Counselling Kobus Maree, Annamaria Di Fabio, 2015-11-03 This book brings together eminent global theorists and practitioners to share their views on the evolution of career counselling in recent decades Multiple changes of a fundamental and complex nature as well as related challenges in the world of work have necessitated career counselling to undergo such an evolution The authors examine the future nature and scope of new directions in the field of career counselling psychology and they critically reflect on as well as promote the predominant theoretical and conceptual framework of the field of career counselling The latest models and methods in and for the 21st century are explored and teased out including Mark Savickas proposal to shift the focus in interventions from conceptualising the self as content to seeing the self as a process This approach is in keeping with the notion of career as a story and consistent with leading theories such as Jean Guichard's self construction framework and the life design paradigm The authors deliver an avant garde text that is easy to read and use without diluting the conceptual and terminological complexities of the field The book is an invaluable resource for new emerging and experienced researchers academics scholars researchers psychologists social workers teachers and clients It merges what is known about the field with emerging approaches It gives an overview of theoretical paradigms that can be applied to a changing world of work It makes a critical analysis of germane questions such as What does the future hold for the field of career counselling and how can challenges be turned into opportunities and How can different paradigms approaches and strategies be harnessed to promote clients career life wellbeing and resilience It facilitates an understanding of the skills necessary to deal with career related transitions challenges and barriers to help people acquire transferable career life skills and career choice readiness It examines the importance of career adaptability and how people can develop this vital 21st century survival competency It challenges career counsellors to grasp and acquire skills to promote and advocate social justice agendas It promotes and demonstrates the exciting and promising notion of dialogue writing to enhance the dialogical work of the career counsellor and client Individually and collectively the authors team up to blend retrospect and prospect and they make a concerted effort to convert 21st century challenges and frontiers in career counselling into opportunities hurt into hope hopelessness into inspiration

Quality of Life in Behavioral Medicine Research Joel E. Dimsdale, Andrew S. Baum,, Andrew S. Baum, 2013-10-31 The number of and interest in quality of life studies has grown dramatically in the last decade On an ever increasing basis patients clinicians researchers and health policy regulators are considering quality of life in assessing treatment alternatives Unfortunately most discussions of quality of life are narrow in scope applying to only one disease group This unique book represents the concerted effort of experts in academia federal government health care regulators and pharmaceutical industry representatives to define the promise and the problems associated with quality of life studies The issues covered range from cross cutting ones to those that are specific to particular illnesses Because quality of life takes into consideration such domains as mood vocation family sexual functioning social participation and costs this book will serve as an invaluable companion to readers with an interest in behavioral medicine research

Caring for You, Caring for Me
David H. Haigler, Kathryn B. Mims, Jack A. Nottingham, 1998 Caring for persons with chronic illnesses or disabilities is a rewarding endeavor but it often places extreme demands on those providing care Caregivers need both education and support to understand their caregiving roles and to cope with the difficult situations they face All too often there is a chasm between professionals who are part of the formal caregiving system and family members friends and neighbors who provide daily care The Caring for You Caring for Me education and support program is a valuable tool for use in providing caregivers with education and support The program is designed to bring formal professional and informal lay family caregivers together to gain a better understanding of each other's perspectives on what it means to be a caregiver with the hope that in the process both will learn to do it better The program is based on caregiving research and the expertise of frontline caregivers The Leader's Guide contains everything needed to conduct a ten hour education and support program for caregivers informational content layouts for overhead transparencies and suggested group activities The companion Participant's Manual supports the presentation providing a workbook for class activities a suggested reading list and a compendium of national sources of help for caregivers Caring for You Caring for Me was developed by the Rosalynn Carter Institute under the guidance of the West Central Georgia Caregivers Network CARE NET The Rosalynn Carter Institute was established in 1987 Its mission is to understand the process of caregiving and discover new ways to benefit both formal and informal caregivers The Institute supports the premise that caregivers and care receivers can be served most effectively through the collaborative efforts of formal and informal caregivers academicians public and private services and organizations representing caregivers and recipients of care

Perspectives on Enhancing Student Transition Into Higher Education and Beyond
Willison, Debra, Henderson, Emma, 2023-07-10 Transition and change are part of everyone's life In the context of higher education there are multiple points where students will undergo transition This includes the move from secondary and further education or elsewhere into higher education where students move from school or college to university As students near the completion of their studies they must make decisions about career or further study options which again necessitates transition In addition different cohorts of students such as those from a low socio economic background international students and students facing additional barriers due to gender ethnicity or disability will face further transitions Many students look forward to moving on and progressing with their studies and careers however transitions can be challenging and enhanced support can ensure continued success for all Perspectives on Enhancing Student Transition Into Higher Education and Beyond supports the various transitions that students entering higher education face throughout the entire learner journey This book brings together best practice examples of how institutions have enhanced the support offered to address the transition challenges that students face throughout the learner journey before through and beyond the university
