Globalisation and Services-driven Economic Growth Niels Beerepoot, Bart Lambregts, Jana Kleibert, 2016-07-28 Following drastic shifts in the spatial organization of goods production increasingly fierce competition now forces firms also to look critically at how to organize the production of services While digitization and advances in information and communication technologies have enabled firms to unbundle service production processes the increased global availability of skilled labour allows for the relocation of ever more of these processes around the world As a result a new geography of services production takes shape a geography that is defined by new interregional and international divisions of labour and held together by increasingly complex global services production networks This book examines how the reorganisation of services production alters relations between and generates different sets of challenges and opportunities for economic development in the Global North and the Global South Drawing from 11 case studies probing various aspects of services production in different parts of the world the book brings out the remarkable heterogeneity and transformative capacities of services It successively shows how global trade in services creates new interdependencies between services producing and services consuming regions reveals how services help to mitigate the impact of and contribute to recovery from economic crises in the Global North and demonstrates how services offshoring fosters economic development and service sector driven modernisation processes in the Global South The book's openness to the heterogeneous and dynamic nature of services production enlarges our understanding of which particular services in which spatiotemporal context have the capacity to generate good jobs contribute to productivity and drive economic growth The book stands out from other books in the field in that it combines perspectives on services driven transformations from both the Global North and the Global South and looks into the role of various services segments Based on pioneering empirical research and original data it offers a timely contribution to this growing debate The book provides valuable insights for students scholars and professionals interested in services services offshoring services driven growth and socioeconomic transformations in the Global North and South

The Netflix Effect Kevin McDonald, Daniel

Smith-Rowsey, 2016-08-11 Netflix is the definitive media company of the 21st century It was among the first to parlay new Internet technologies into a successful business model and in the process it changed how consumers access film and television It is now one of the leading providers of digitally delivered media content and is continually expanding access across a host of platforms and mobile devices Despite its transformative role however Netflix has drawn very little critical attention far less than competitors such as YouTube Apple Amazon Comcast and HBO This collection addresses this gap as the essays are designed to critically explore the breadth and diversity of Netflix's effect from a variety of different scholarly perspectives a necessary approach considering the hybrid nature of Netflix its inextricable links to new models of media production distribution viewer engagement and consumer behavior its relationship to existing media conglomerates and consumer electronics its capabilities as a web based service provider and data network and its reliance on a broader technological infrastructure

Transatlantic Television Drama Matt Hills, Michele Hilmes, Roberta E. Pearson, 2019

In 2014 the UK science fiction television series Black Mirror was released on Netflix worldwide quickly becoming a hit with US audiences Like other beloved British imports this series piqued Americans' interest with hints of dark comedy clever plotlines and six episode seasons that left audiences frantic for more In Transatlantic Television Drama volume editors Michele Hilmes Matt Hills and Roberta Pearson team up with leading scholars in TV studies and transnational television to look at how serial dramas like Black Mirror captivate US audiences and what this reveals about the ways Americans and Brits relate to each other on and off the screen Focusing on production strategies performance styles and audience reception chapters delve into some of the most widely discussed programs on the transatlantic circuit from ongoing series like Game of Thrones Downton Abbey Orphan Black and Sherlock to those with long histories of transnational circulation like Masterpiece and Doctor Who to others whose transnational success speaks to the process of exchange adaptation and cooperation such as Rome Parade's End Broadchurch and Gracepoint The book's first section investigates the platforms that support British American exchange from distribution partnerships and satellite providers to streaming services The second section concentrates on the shift in meaning across cultural contexts such as invocations of heritage genre shifts in adaptation performance styles and in the case of Episodes actual dramatized depiction of the process of transatlantic television production In section three attention turns to contexts of audience reception ranging from fan conventions and fiction to television criticism the effects of national branding on audiences and the role of social media in de or re contextualizing fans response to transnational programs

Investing in Movies Joseph N. Cohen, 2021-12-30. In this second edition of Investing in Movies, industry veteran Joseph N. Cohen provides investors and producers with an analytical framework to assess the opportunities and pitfalls of film investments. The book traces macroeconomic trends and the globalization of the business, including the rise of streamers, as well as the impact these have on potential returns. It offers a broad range of guidelines on how to source interesting projects and advice on what kinds of projects to avoid, as well as numerous ways to maximize risk-adjusted returns. While focusing primarily on investments in independent films, Cohen also provides valuable insights into the studio and independent slate deals that have been marketed to the institutional investment community. As well, this new edition has been updated to fully optimize the current film industry climate, including brand new chapters on the Chinese film market, new media streaming services, and the effects of COVID-19 on the global film market. Written in a detailed and approachable manner, this book is essential for students and aspiring professionals looking to gain an insider perspective against the minefield of film investing.

Challenging the Status Quo, 2018-11-26. In Challenging the Status Quo: Diversity, Democracy, and Equality in the 21st Century, David G. Embrick, Sharon M. Collins, and Michelle Dodson have compiled the latest ideas and scholarship in the area of diversity and inclusion. The contributors in this edited book offer critical analyses on many aspects of diversity as it pertains to institutional policies, practices, discourse, and beliefs. The book is broken down into 19 chapters over 7 sections that cover policies and politics, pedagogy and higher education, STEM, religion, communities, complex organizations, and discourse and identity. Collectively, these chapters contribute to answering three main questions: 1. what ultimately does diversity mean? 2. what are the various mechanisms by which institutions understand and use diversity? and 3. and why is it important for us to rethink diversity?
