Lewis, 2005-09-01 The disparity between rich and poor countries is the most serious intractable problem facing the world today The chronic poverty of many nations affects more than the citizens and economies of those nations it threatens global stability as the pressures of immigration become unsustainable and rogue nations seek power and influence through extreme political and terrorist acts To address this tenacious poverty a vast array of international institutions has pumped billions of dollars into these nations in recent decades yet despite this infusion of capital and attention roughly five billion of the world s six billion people continue to live in poor countries What isn t working And how can we fix it The Power of Productivity provides powerful and controversial answers to these questions William W Lewis the director emeritus of the McKinsey Global Institute here draws on extensive microeconomic studies of thirteen nations over twelve years conducted by the Institute itself to counter virtually all prevailing wisdom about how best to ameliorate economic disparity Lewis s research which included studying everything from state of the art auto makers to black market street vendors and mom and pop stores conclusively demonstrates that contrary to popular belief providing more capital to poor nations is not the best way to help them Nor is improving levels of education exchange rate flexibility or government solvency enough Rather the key to improving economic conditions in poor
