Rankings and the Mediatization of Higher Education Michelle Stack, 2016-04-12 Higher Education Institutions simultaneously critique and participate in national and international rankings of universities However this creates a difficult situation since if universities do participate in rankings they acquiesce to a system based in media logics that has little to do with academic norms of research If they do not participate in the rankings they risk losing public funding students and donors in an increasingly competitive and globalized environment This book delves into the influence of journalists business tycoons and multinational corporations in defining what world class is and how it will be measured Rankings provide us with a rich study for understanding how universities define deploy and manage their assets and liabilities in a mediatized globalized economy University Rankings William Yat Wai Lo, 2014-02-17 This book adopts a qualitative case study approach to provide the readers with a systematic delineation and interpretation of the implications of the university ranking phenomenon for Taiwan's higher education system It reviews the literature on different theories concerning the global transformation of higher education and presents basic information on higher education in Taiwan The author develops a four dimensional framework for the analysis of the ranking phenomenon in the island state First the technological ecological dimension aims to look into how the rankings have impacted Taiwan's higher education based on empirical findings from five Taiwanese public universities Next the technological geographical dimension examines how Taiwan can use rankings to promote its interests in global higher education The two conceptual dimensions focus on the relationship between the rankings and power in higher education They show how the phenomenon can be read and explained through theoretical lenses from ecological and geographical perspectives From an ecological perspective the empirical evidence suggests that the influence of rankings varies throughout the academic hierarchy in Taiwan The theoretical analysis then illustrates the relationship between the ranking phenomenon and the power structure in academic hierarchy Geographically while the empirical analysis is based on data from Taiwan the theoretical analysis offers essential insights that help readers to understand the changing global landscape of higher education and its implications in East Asia Knowledge for Sale Lawrence Busch, 2023-09-19 How free market fundamentalists have shifted the focus of higher education to competition metrics consumer demand and return on investment and why we should change this A new philosophy of higher education has taken hold in institutions around the world Its supporters disavow the pursuit of knowledge for its own sake and argue that the only knowledge worth pursuing is that with more or less immediate market value Every other kind of learning is downgraded its budget cut In Knowledge for Sale Lawrence Busch challenges this market driven approach The rationale for the current thinking Busch explains comes from neoliberal economics which calls for reorganizing society around the needs of the market The market influenced changes to higher education include shifting the cost of education from the state to the individual turning education from a public good to a private good subject to consumer demand redefining higher education as a search for the highest paying job and turning scholarly research into a competition based on metrics including number of citations and value of grants Students administrators and scholars have begun to think of themselves as economic actors rather than seekers of knowledge Arguing for active resistance to this takeover Busch urges us to burst the neoliberal bubble to imagine a future not dictated by the market a future in which there is a more educated citizenry and in which the old dichotomies market and state nature and culture and equality and liberty break down In this future universities value learning and not training scholarship grapples with society's most pressing problems rather than quick fixes for corporate interests and democracy is enriched by its educated and engaged citizens

World University Rankings: Statistical Issues And Possible Remedies

Kay Cheng Soh, 2017-03-08 World university ranking started one and a half decades ago for the purpose of understanding what makes an excellent institution of higher education Subsequent to the appearance of the Academic Ranking of World Universities at the Shanghai Jiaotong University there soon emerged the QS World University Rankings and the Times Higher Education World University Rankings These three ranking systems are considered the classics as they are the fore runners although no less than ten new systems have come to the arena The various ranking systems adopt a common approach of weight and sum to process the indicator data Each system somewhat arbitrarily decides on a set of indicators and assigns different weights to these presumably reflecting their relative importance This simple and simplistic approach meets well common sense And in fact much of the discussion on world university rankings is conducted at the commonsensical level However analyses conducted in the recent years uncovered several problems of the prevalent approach spurious precision mutual compensation weight discrepancy indicator redundancy etc which render the overall scores and ranking suspect in terms of validity These are due to systems ignoring the fact that world university rankings are a form of social measurement and therefore need be seen from this perspective Moreover rankings encourage competition and in the highly competitive world of today it is natural that institutional attention is focused on the ranking results By now the original purpose of world university ranking seems to have been overshadowed and world university rankings look more like international academic contests as though they are annual sports meets This monograph collects together many articles pertaining to the identified measurement and statistical issues of world university rankings and suggests remedies to make ranking results more trustworthy
