Undergraduate Student Engagement Zhe Zhang, Olwen McNamara, 2018-07-31 This book focuses on undergraduate student engagement in China and the UK It offers an innovative perspective on this aspect which although pervasive is not always acknowledged by its users to be complex and multidimensional in nature firmly rooted in cultural social and disciplinary norms and difficult to measure Competition within the global higher education market has become increasingly intense amongst universities and the higher education sector in China currently the largest source of international students is beginning to compete strongly for its home market Against this consumerist background student engagement with its close relation to positive learning outcomes is increasingly receiving attention from higher education managers and researchers who seek to improve the quality of their products The research study on which the book is based draws on three courses two in China and one in the UK It offers a binary perspective across two very different cultures Western and Confucian and two very different subject areas Chinese language and mathematics The study employs a mixed methods design and develops a conceptual framework derived from statistical and thematic analysis An original theoretical lens combining a bioecological perspective Bronfenbrenner and a sociocultural one Holland et al s Figured Worlds adds further interpretive power to help understand the construct of student engagement

Meaning and Power in a Southeast Asian Realm Shelly Errington,2014-07-14 The ruler in the Indic States of Southeast Asia was seen not as the head of state but as the center or navel of the world Like polities persons and houses were and are viewed as centered spaces locations where spiritual potency can gather Shelly Errington explores the politics of constituting and maintaining such centered socio political spaces in a former Indic State called Luwu which lies in South Sulawesi Celebes Indonesia The meaning of political life and the ways its cultural forms were and are sustained depend on locally construed ideas of power or spiritual potency and the person which the author explores in detail She views the polity neither as a frame in which political actors pursue advantage nor as a structure for extracting wealth but as a hierarchical system of signs ultimately backed by force but force which was not fully centralized and whose import must be understood within ideas about spiritual potency widespread in the region Although focused on Luwu the book's theoretical scope is wide and it ranges comparatively over a broad geographical area making a contribution to ethnographic historical and regional studies as well as to the study of politics in nonsecular societies Part One traces how the person the house and the polity are constituted symbolically in everyday practices as centered spaces Part Two examines how centers can be de centered while Part Three explores the structure that tended to hold centers together in Luwu and other Indic States The introduction and the three conclusions each of the three being broader than the last in comparative scope locate the author's views with respect to other current theoretical approaches to power and culture Originally published in 1989 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

Global University Rankings T. Erkkilä, 2013-09-26 Global University Rankings explores the novel topic of global university rankings and their effects on higher education in Europe The contributions in this volume outline different discourses on global university rankings and explore the related changes concerning European higher education policies disciplinary traditions and higher education institutions The first global university rankings were published less than a decade ago but these policy instruments have become highly influential in shaping the approaches and institutional realities of higher education The rankings have portrayed European academic institutions in a varying light There is intense reflexivity over the figures leading to ideational changes and institutional adaptation that take surprisingly similar forms in different European countries The contributions in this book critically assess global university rankings as a policy discourse that would seem to be instrumental to higher education reform throughout Europe

Global University Rankings and the Mediatization of Higher Education Michelle Stack, 2016-04-12 Higher Education Institutions simultaneously critique and participate in national and international rankings of universities However this creates a difficult situation since if universities do participate in rankings they acquiesce to a system based in media logics that has little to do with academic norms of research If they do not participate in the rankings they risk losing public funding students and donors in an increasingly competitive and globalized environment This book delves into the influence of journalists business tycoons and multinational corporations in defining what world class is and how it will be measured Rankings provide us with a rich study for understanding how universities define deploy and manage their assets and liabilities in a mediatized globalized economy
