Ritual Innovation Brian K. Pennington, Amy L. Allocco, 2018-02-01 Challenges prevailing conceptions of what religious ritual does and how it achieves its ends. Religious rituals are often seen as unchanging and ahistorical bearers of long standing traditions. But as this book demonstrates, ritual is a lively platform for social change and innovation in the religions of South Asia. Drawing from

Hindu and Jain examples in India Nepal and North America the essays in this volume written by renowned scholars of religion explore how the intentional conscious and public invention or alteration of ritual can effect dramatic social transformation whether in dethroning a Nepali king or sanctioning same sex marriage Ritual Innovation shows how the very idea of ritual as a conservative force misreads the history of religion by overlooking ritual s inherent creative potential and its adaptability to new contexts and circumstances The breadth of coverage in Ritual Innovation is extraordinary and refreshing in terms of the types of contemporary ritual practices and practitioners receiving attention not to mention the geographic spread across South Asia This book makes a significant contribution to the scholarly literature on South Asian religions and contemporary Hinduism Karline McLain author of The Afterlife of Sai Baba Competing Visions of a Global Saint

The broad spectrum of topics surrounding what is termed the knowledge economy has attracted increasing attention from the scientific community in recent years. The nature of knowledge intensive industries, the spatiality of knowledge, the role of proximity and distance in generating functional knowledge, the transfer of knowledge via networks and the complex interplay between knowledge, location and economic development are all live academic issues. This book, the fifth volume in Springer's Knowledge and Space series, focuses on the last of these: the multiple relationships between knowledge, the economy and space. It reflects the conceptual and methodological multidisciplinary emerging from this scholarship, yet where there has up to now been a notable lack of communication between some of the contributing disciplines, resulting in lexical and other confusions, this volume brings concord and to foster interdisciplinarity. These complications have been especially evident in our understanding of the spatiality of knowledge, the part that spatial contexts play in knowledge creation and diffusion and the relevance of face to face contacts, all of which are addressed in these pages. The material here is grouped into four sections: knowledge creation and economy; knowledge and economic development; knowledge and networks; and knowledge and clusters. It assembles new concepts and original empirical research from geography, economics, sociology, international business relations and management. The book addresses a varied audience interested in the historical and spatial foundations of the knowledge economy and is intended to bridge some of the gaps between the differing approaches to research on knowledge, the economy and space.
