Parliament. House of Commons. Public Accounts Committee,Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Committee of Public Accounts,2009 This report examines recording and acting on complaints and on the adequacy and costs of the complaints process in the Department for Work and Pensions the Department and Jobcentre Plus and the Pensions Disability and Carers Service the Agencies The Agencies provided services to over 22 million customers in 2007 08 and around 70 000 complaints were recorded down from 103 000 in 2003 04 A three tiered process has been introduced and Agencies aim to resolve most complaints at frontline staff or manager level so as to minimise the number reaching Chief Executive level Additionally dissatisfied customers have two independent resolution routes if internal processes fail the Independent Case Examiner and the Parliamentary and Health Service Ombudsman Whilst only about 200 cases reach the Ombudsman the proportion upheld at that stage is around two thirds suggesting that there is scope for improvement in handling the most difficult cases Staff attitude is the most common cause of complaints Another common complaint is the cost of calling the Agencies particularly from mobile phones The Department has no consistent system across its operations for recording complaints although it is currently piloting a simplified system with the intention of moving to a common system There is also limited central monitoring of the quality of replies to customers The cost of handling complaints is estimated by the National Audit Office to be between 4.7 million and 6.2 million although the Department does not monitor such information Resolving at the front line a third of the cases which currently reach tier three Agency Chief Executive level could save the Department around 700 000
